

robbed two men who were talking about the weather and next year's crops. He covered the passengers from the rear. There was no panic.

"Now," announced the two-gun youth, "the train will pass through the coach. The ladies and gentlemen will yield up all they have. If we find anybody holding out, heaven help them."

Mr. Rowe thereupon started frisking the passengers. The first one he searched was Miss Margery Fassett, a Y. W. C. A. secretary, living at 118 South Scoville avenue, Oak Park. The one gun youth had selected her hat as an arm rest. She had slipped her purse on the seat and was sitting on it. She had also removed a ring.

"Ain't she got nothing?" asked the bandit.

"Not a thing," Red Mr. Rowe.

"All right, on to the next one. We got to hurry."

Train Newsie Gets Shock.

There was an interruption at the front end of the coach. Ray Miller, 1152 South Wabash avenue, the train newsie and fruit vendor, had entered, crying.

"Cigars, cigarettes, candy and chewing tobacco. All the latest reading."

"Stick 'em up," commanded the two-gun youth.

Mr. Miller dropped his basket and beat it for the door. The bandit pulled the trigger. There was a loud click.

"Where'd that bullet hit?" yelled Miller, his knees sagging.

"It hit you the next time. Come back here."

Mr. Miller did, and the bandit pressed him also into service as a frisker.

These Were Robbed.

Among the passengers Miller and Rowe were forced to search, with the amounts gleaned by the robbers, were:

GEORGE ANTHONY, 4456 North Whipple street, $22.

C. K. COLE, McCormick building.

D. ALLDRICH, 1541 North Shore avenue, $1.

FRANK CARROLL, 5044 Lakewood avenue, $26.

C. P. PLUMMER of Detroit, $25.

MR. MILLER himself, $32.

A. W. CROSS of Oak Park, $25.

CARL SCHMITZ of Champaign, $40.

A. O. BOUTH of La Grange, Pullman conductor, $200, company receipts.

Miss Mabel Davies of Cairo, Ill., was wearing a $2,500 ring as Rowe approached her. He winked at her. She put the ring in her hair. Another woman put a diamond ring in her shoe. Two others held their rings in their mouths.

About this time there was another interruption. It was the brakeman. He entered by way of the front door and began:

"The next station is Kan—"

"Kan that stuff and sit down," commanded the two gun bandit.

Robbers Pass the Cigars.

Mr. Miller did. But the incident reminded the robbers they were nearing the confines of police habitation. They had Miller pass around cigars to all the men, then ordered the passengers to remain as they were.

Each robber backed slowly out as the train slowed down for the Kankakee crossing. They were gone when Rowe and Miller ran out to look for them as the train gathered momentum.

"They were as nervous a pair of kids as I've ever seen," said C. D. Cole, a coal broker, of 5922 Greenwood avenue. "But they were certainly courteous. They made the men stand, but they allowed the women to remain seated. I saw Rowe saved $100 by putting it under my seat."

"Like a Chaplin Comedy."

"It was like a Charley Chaplin comedy," said Miss Fassett. "One of them whispered to me, 'You know I need the money. That's why I'm in this game. I don't want to be in it. They couldn't have had much experience. Why, many of the women argued them into giving back their money.'"

"I think they're brothers," said Rowe. "They talked to each other that way. But they're the dangerous kind of bandits. They were so scared if anybody had made a false move they'd have hit. They were dressed like fashion pants, white shirt over coats and nicely creased trousers."

The holdup occupied about thirty minutes. The train left Gilman at 7:40 and arrived at the Kankakee crossing about 8:15.

The first holdup of the fast mail occurred May 13 last, when Horace Walton, a postal clerk, turned robber, and obtained pouches containing $100,000 from the mail coach. He was later killed in a battle with the police. On Aug. 20 the mail coach was again robbed of pouches containing $100,000.

THIRTY MINUTES OF TERROR

A. O. Booth, conductor of I. C. fast mail Pullman, who was robbed of $200 company money when two youths, later captured, held up train near Gilman, Ill., and started in forty minute raid.

H. B. Jacks, conductor of the New Orleans-Chicago train, who also was one of the twenty-five victims of the two "kid robbers" from Greenville, Ill.

J. R. Rowe, flagman whom the robbers made prisoner, then compelling him to search their victims for loot. Rowe made a pretended search, but winked at each victim and passed over many of their valuables. He got away with it.

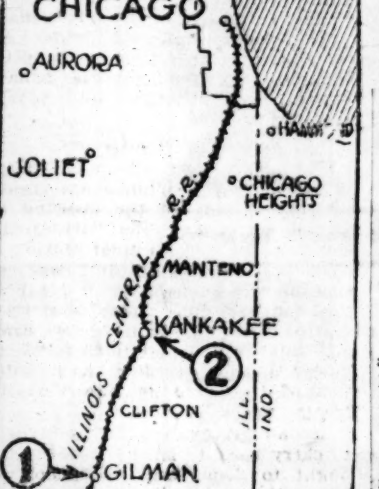

George Anthony of 4456 North Whipple street, Chicago, who was robbed of $22 by pair who invaded Pullman coach.

Ray Miller, the train newsie, who was made to assist Rowe in searching the passengers on the Pullman. He also hoodwinked the pair and got away with it. But they surely did surprise him with their revolvers.

Miss Margery Fassett, Oak Park Y. W. C. A. secretary, whom Rowe assisted in tricking the robbers of their plunder. She was the first victim searched.

Washington, D. W. Galbraith, national commander of the American legion, in a statement to-night, as "a scuttling skirmish to muddy the waters so that the principle involved can be clouded in a lot of figures that mean nothing." Mr. Galbraith estimated the maximum amount the bonus bill would cost the government at $1,375,800,000.

'SCOTLAND YARD' FOR U. S. MAY BE CURB ON CRIME

Its Adoption Advocated by N. Y. Police Chief.

Trenton, N. J., Dec. 28.—Establishment of a national police bureau in Washington, through which information could be flashed around the world to keep a check on movements of known criminals, was recommended today to a conference here of state, county, and municipal officials called by Gov. Edwards to consider the crime wave in New Jersey.

Police Commissioner Enright of New York City, who suggested the central bureau, declared the United States was far below the efficiency of police of European countries. The police of this country, he said, could not expect cooperation from foreign countries until a system of checking convicts was adopted. He said criminals from England were entering this country daily through Mexico.

E. S. Data Lacking.

"Scotland Yard and other European police departments are unable to get data regarding criminals from this country," he went on, "but with a national police bureau communication could be maintained both with Scotland Yard but with other great police agencies of the world."

Commissioner Enright criticized bonding companies for furnishing security for criminals, many of whom obtained their freedom in this manner, and continued:

"Men have been educated to use firearms by recent experiences in the war, and some care nothing for the taking of human life. The country is undergoing a siege of suffering, and probably will be subject to much sorrow for a few years to come."

Establishment of a central bureau to check movements of automobiles entering and leaving New Jersey was advocated by the state motor vehicle commissioner.

LOGICAL HEADQUARTERS HERE.

Chicago as the logical headquarters for a national crime bureau, as suggested by Commissioner Enright was advocated last night by Col. Henry Barrett Chamberlin, operating director of the Chicago Crime commission.

"The nation is sadly in need of a national police bureau," Col. Chamberlin said. "There is no adequate organization for the recording of criminals in the United States, except in California. The federal government ought to establish a bureau, with chief office in Chicago, and with branch offices in all other large cities."

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 28.—A compromise of the land holding and immigration controversy with Japan has been proposed by influential Californians on the basis of California extending the prohibition of land ownership to all aliens and Japan agreeing to prevent the emigration of all Japanese to America.

Conferees here today between Harry Dagobert and a group of senate "irreconcilables" have comforted the latter by leaving them fairly convinced that President Elect Harding will not try to force ratification of the Versailles treaty.

Refusal of the soviet authorities to permit Americans to cross the Russian border is regarded here as a possible retaliation for the deportation of Martens, their representative, from the United States.

NEW WARD LINES UP FOR PASSAGE IN COUNCIL TODAY

Bowler Claims 40 Votes for Committee's Map.

The city council is expected to pass the proposed restricting ordinance, on which a subcommittee has been at work for nearly two months, at today's session, but the possibility that the new fifty ward boundaries will become effective for the spring elections is regarded as remote.

Ald. Bowler, chairman of the subcommittee on the fifty ward lines, declared that the proposed lines will receive more than forty votes. Thirty-six, a majority, are necessary to approve them. Assistant Corporation Counsel G. A. Dahlberg, who is handling Mayor Thompson's attempt at restricting assembly, that thirty-two aldermen have signed up to support the mayor's lines, thus assuring the voters of a chance to consider both plans in the spring.

Want to Show Equal Division.

"We do not care to beat the council plan at tomorrow's session, though we may do so," said one of the mayor's friends last night. "What we want to show is that the council is fairly evenly divided between the two sets of lines."

Ald. Bowler conferred last night with Mr. Dahlberg on the question of submitting the ward lines to voters on April 5 instead of on Feb. 22. Opponents of the plan hold the April election is not a general election. Its friends say it is a general election, as a city clerk and treasurer will be elected then.

Lyle Writes an Opinion.

Ald. Lyle put hope in some aldermanic breasts when he made public his written opinion holding that under the fifty ward law an aldermanic election will be held in 1922. This would prevent the retiring of thirty-five of the seventy members in the council year 1922-23, which the submission of two plans to the voters will make a certainty, according to the city law department.

COUNCIL UP PROB 100,000

Commission Solution

The city council will vote more than 100,000 Chicago at today's resolution of Ald. Smith, calling on the mayor to take up the mission to take up the resolution, which by Attorney John J. Smith, will call for five aldermen and the commission will be asked to get down to work on a large scale. Ald. Smith, and the council will operate to prevent a strike at a minimum.

Appeals for A

"County Agent that applications for daily," said Ald. Smith, "will become every first of the year, which will shut down work for a week."

"We must act quickly," said Ald. Smith, "to save percentage of the employed from turning living. If we can give problem will be solved. We must give them work. I favor opening the school at the bridge for 300 men at once."

Ald. Smith suggested Graham Taylor, who the Illinois housing week asking for the city lodging houses, property of war, member of the commission.

The cold wave, of numerous anti-crime chief of Police of Chicago, the number of inmates up from 604 in September.

Thousands of unemployed men thronged the west side streets. Hundreds were on chairs, benches, when they had money. The 200 cheap hotels were full. One hundred men were huddled at the Salvation Army.

COUNCIL TO TAKE UP PROBLEM OF 100,000 JOBLESS

Commission to Work Out Solution Planned.

The city council will tackle the cases of more than 100,000 unemployed in Chicago at today's meeting under a resolution of Ald. Clayton F. Smith calling on the mayor to appoint a commission to take up the problem at once. The resolution, which is being framed by Attorney John J. Sonsteyn for Ald. Smith, will call for the appointment of five aldermen and fifteen citizens on the commission which will be authorized to get down to work next week. Resumption of municipal construction work on a large scale, in the belief of Ald. Smith, and the opening of municipal lodging houses at once will operate to prevent a crisis and to keep crime at a minimum this winter.

Appeals for Aid Increase.

"County Agent Ehemann tells me that applications for aid are doubling daily," said Ald. Smith. "The situation will become even worse after the first of the year, when many factories will shut down for fifteen days to take stock."

"We must act quickly to keep a certain percentage of the 100,000 unemployed from turning to crime for a living. If we can give them work the problem will be solved. But if we cannot give them work we can aid by a system of municipal lodging houses. I favor opening the John Worthy school at the bridge, which will shelter 300 men at once," said Prof. Graham Taylor, who appeared before the Illinois housing commission last week asking for the reopening of the city lodging houses, closed during the property of war times, be made a number of the commission. The cold wave, combined with the numerous anti-crime raids ordered by Chief of Police Fitzmorris, has brought the number of inmates of the bridge up from 604 in September to 1,100 at present.

Thousands Seek Shelter.

Thousands of unemployed and homeless men thronged the lodging houses of the west side yesterday and last night. Hundreds were forced to sleep on chairs, benches, or floors, even when they had money to pay for beds. The 200 cheap hotels have accommodations for 40,000, but this did not meet the demand.

The situation is explained as due to the shut down in railroad construction, hastened by the interval between the harvest and the ice seasons. It also was stated that hundreds of homeless men on their way south were caught here unexpectedly by the cold wave. The Salvation Army with 570 beds, the Peoria lodging houses with 670, and the Rufus Dawes home with 250 were all sold out early and permitted the arrivals to stretch out on the floor. At the Helping Hand mission, 60 West Madison street, a score of men were huddled about the altar.

Others Take In Homeless.

At the Lucky Baldwin mission, 919 West Erie, and the Dan Baty mission, 1015 North Dearborn, the homeless were taken in. The floors were covered with sleeping forms. Fifty men sought refuge and protection from the cold on the floor of the Hobo college, 133 South Green street. One hundred sought refuge at the Desplains street police station.

The Brotherhood Welfare association, which conducted the Wabash mission, prepared to send a committee to the city council to ask relief for the unfortunate, many of whom are former service men with money, but unable to purchase accommodations. The Ben L. Reimann of the city health department, who made a tour of the lodging houses, missions, and police stations in company with a reporter for THE TRIBUNE, said he would endeavor to get the city to reopen the municipal lodging house as an additional shelter for the unfortunate.

MERCURY BEGINS TO CLIMB; FIRES MARK COLD DAY

Chicago's first sub-zero wave of the winter is passing. The coldest yesterday was 4 below. At midnight thermometers registered 18 above and the weather man promised it would not go lower than 12 above before morning. Today the mercury will continue to rise gradually, he says, aided by winds from the southwest.

One man was reported frozen to death. He was Fred Plough, 65 years old, a painter living at 1823 Avenue H, South Chicago. He was ill and started to a neighbor's, when he collapsed and was not found until he was dead.

The coldest day of the winter proved the busiest for the city's firemen. Starting early in the day, they were kept almost constantly on the jump. Their final big battle with the flames took place last night at 210 North Michigan, where damage estimated at $50,000 was done. The first floor is occupied by the Lucas Tire company and the two upper floors by the Constant Nazarene Candy company.

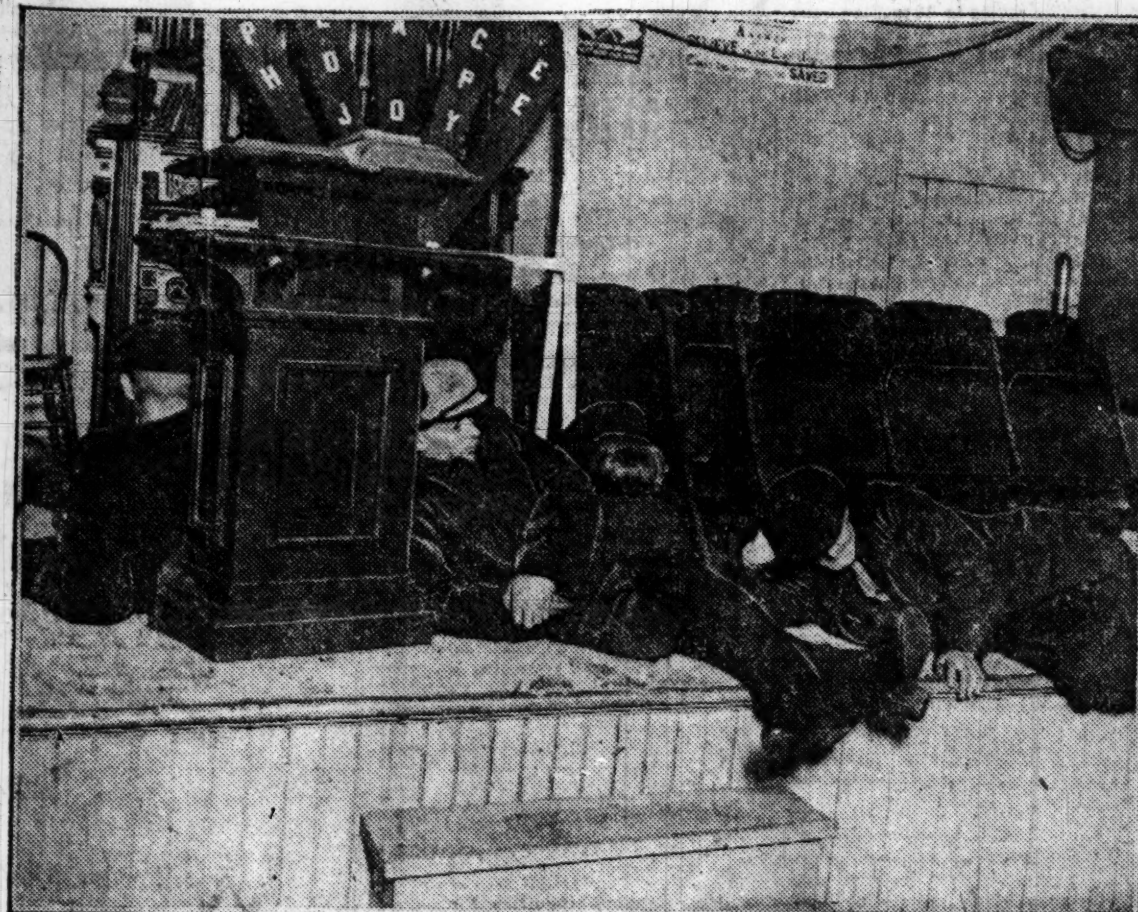

Earlier in the evening a fireman was injured and property valued at $75,000 in the dry kiln of the Turner Brothers Picture Frame company, 1445 South Morgan street.

Numerous reports were made to the police of injuries sustained in falls on the ice. Among the more serious were: PATROLMAN LESLIE A. FISHER, 13000 Brandon avenue, right ankle broken.

RICH OF EVANSTON PROTEST STORES IN HOME SECTIONS

Evanston's zoning project encountered another obstacle yesterday when wealthy citizens issued a petition to the city council protesting against what they term an unwarranted invasion of the fashionable east side residential district.

There are more than 100 signatories. Among them are Henry J. Patton, a brother of James A. Patton; Harrison B. Riley, Charles G. Dawes, John E. Wilder and Rufus C. Dawes. Their petition reads in part:

"The extension of business into any neighborhood which heretofore has been used exclusively for residential purposes should not be invited by the zoning ordinance. Should you be too liberal to commercial interests, and invite them to establish stores and hotels in neighborhoods where they do not belong, such an error cannot be redressed, and the damage done thereby would be irreparable. The moment commerce enters a neighborhood the value of property for residential purposes is lost and can never be regained."

Ald. Hiram McCullough of the Sixth ward, which is in northern Evanston, is chairman of the zoning committee. The ordinance is ready to be presented to the council for passage at its next meeting.

"Evanston has been a hick town long enough," he said last night, "and it is now time that it cease to be a bedroom for Chicago, and enjoy its rightful commercial and industrial advantages. We must be fair with business and give it a chance."

STOCK DEAL CAUSES ARREST.

Herman Reineke, 55 years old, of 836 East Forty-fifth street, who said that he is a stock broker, with offices at 109 North Dearborn street, was arrested yesterday, charged with having taken $3,000 from Michael Box, salesmanager at 1301 South Redie avenue, under false pretenses through a stock sale.

VILLIST AS WIN AND LOSE IN NEW MEXICO COURT

Santa Fe, N. M., Dec. 28.—Pardons granted by Gov. A. O. Larrazolo to sixteen Villistas serving terms in the state penitentiary for participation in a raid on Columbus, N. M., are valid, the state Supreme court ruled today, but it upheld the action of Luna county officials in rearresting the men before they had been actually released from prison.

The Mexicans will be kept at the state prison pending trial on new charges of murder in connection with the raid.

Harding Misunderstood.

Mr. Daugherty, it was stated, assured the senators the president elect must have been misunderstood by some of his visitors if the impression had gone out that he intended reviving the Versailles treaty. Mr. Harding, he said, interprets the election returns as a repudiation of the treaty and stands squarely on his statement made several days after the election, that the league was dead.

Mr. Daugherty was shown that the "irreconcilables" are confident they will be even stronger after March 4.

HARDING AGENT BURIES TREATY BEFORE SENATORS

Lodge, Brandegee, New See Rites.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28.—[Special.]—The specter of the Versailles peace treaty, which has stalked about the senate during the Yuletide season, despite the many autopsies performed on it, has been chased back to its grave again, following a conference between senate leaders, and Harry M. Daugherty, personal emissary for President Elect Harding.

Among those present were Senator Lodge, senate majority leader, and chairman foreign relations committee, Senator Knox, Pennsylvania; Senator Brandegee, Connecticut, and Senator New, Indiana.

Results of Conference.

The conference, it was stated, brought about two important results: First: It allayed the growing uneasiness among the "irreconcilables" caused by persistent Marlon reports that Senator Harding was considering the advisability of resubmitting the Versailles treaty with reservations broad enough to protect American interests. It left them fairly convinced that Mr. Harding has no intention of trying to get the Versailles treaty ratified.

Second: It enabled Mr. Daugherty to carry back to Marlon reports that ought to dispel any impression existing there that the "bitter-enders" might be willing now to listen to compromise talk.

Without threats or bluster, it is understood the senators at the conference made it plain to Mr. Daugherty that if the president elect sent the treaty back in any form he would do so at the peril of precipitating a bitter party fight.

Harding Misunderstood.

Mr. Daugherty, it was stated, assured the senators the president elect must have been misunderstood by some of his visitors if the impression had gone out that he intended reviving the Versailles treaty. Mr. Harding, he said, interprets the election returns as a repudiation of the treaty and stands squarely on his statement made several days after the election, that the league was dead.

Mr. Daugherty was shown that the "irreconcilables" are confident they will be even stronger after March 4.

HUGHES SEEMS CERTAIN TO GET COLBY'S OFFICE

Lowden Still in Race for Cabinet Job.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Marion, O., Dec. 28.—[Special.]—That Charles E. Hughes would be secretary of state; Charles G. Dawes, secretary of the treasury; John W. Weeks, secretary of the navy, with Theodore Roosevelt as his assistant, and that Herbert Hoover would certainly be in the cabinet, possibly as secretary of labor, were definite impressions gained by visitors at President Elect Harding's office today.

Henry C. Wallace and Gov. Lowden were still in the race for the department of agriculture, with the rest of the cabinet largely made up of Mr. Harding's political friends who might be shifted from one position to another.

Charles M. Schwab has been under consideration as labor department head but is thought to be out of the running now. Mr. Harding leans to the idea of a big man removed from the direct labor field.

Democrat Starts Roosevelt Boom.

The Roosevelt talk was started by Charles G. Maher of Lincoln, a Democrat, who supported Harding during this campaign because of his league of nations stand. He was one of the organizers of the American Legion and told Mr. Harding he thought this appointment would please the ex-service men. He discussed bonus and soldier rehabilitation work with Harding.

Victor Roosevelt of Omaha is talked of for first assistant postmaster general. Senator Porter J. McCumber of North Dakota, head of the senate steering committee, talked with Mr. Harding today. Afterwards he announced that he was against going into the league of nations. He was the one Republican in the senate who stood out to the last for the Wilson league, and his change of heart is considered significant as indicating the Harding attitude.

Says League Is Dead. He said the league was "dead," and that the thing to do was to go ahead with the formation of a new association of the big powers, with a court for justiciable questions and an agreement to submit other questions to conference and investigation before taking action leading to war. He discussed appropriations and declared that the navy and army estimates would have to be cut. Mr. Daniels' naval program would have to be sacrificed this year, he said.

Oscar Straus, former secretary of commerce and labor, discussed the international situation with Mr. Harding. He is for the present league of nations, modified to suit the American thought, and so told the president elect. He said the only thing to do was to go into the league, either modifying it now or later. Not to enter, he said, would put the world back into the chaos that existed before 1914. He was doubtful of a new association of nations, declaring that he did not know how the other nations would look at that question. He could not say whether Mr. Harding agreed with him or not.

CONSIDER BORAH PLAN.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28.—[Special.]—Senator Borah announced tonight that Senator Lodge had agreed to call a special meeting of the foreign relations committee either Saturday or Monday for the purpose of considering the former's naval disarmament resolution which would direct the president to limit naval building with the power for an agreement to limit naval armament.

Lord Beaverbrook, in the Daily Express, today demands a naval treaty and attacks Admiral Beatty for the demand for a program of big ship building.

The Express examines the situation from the point of view of British, American, and Japanese building programs and declares: "If Japan and America should come to war, Great Britain would back America. No one doubts that, but it is the possibility of a conflict between Japan and the United States which lies at the bottom of all plans for naval building. The world wants peace, not building."

FEWER, BETTER MOVIES, PLAN FOR NEW YEAR

"All Star Casts" Will Be Big Feature.

New York, Dec. 28.—[Special.]—Motion picture production in the United States for 1921 is to be about 50 per cent of that of 1920, and some big concerns have laid off more than that proportion of studio companies.

Among those making cuts are the Famous Players-Lasky, Goldwyn, Fox, Metro, Vitaphone, and Universal.

In Los Angeles, the chief photo play producing center in the world, more than 50,000 actors and others connected with the industry are now out of work.

East Feels Chilling Blast.

In the east this "freezing up" of the movie field already has caused the suspension of about 5,000 high salaried persons, actors, technical assistants or film handlers.

"Fewer and better pictures," it is said, will be the motto for 1921. One company recently stated it has $6,000,000 worth of films on its shelves. It is said $25,000,000 is not an overestimate for the entire industry.

The Famous Players-Lasky company, it is said, will concentrate special feature films to run from one month to a year.

The new Famous Players-Lasky $1,000,000 studio in Long Island city, will close for six weeks when Dorothy Dalton's company is through working on a picture there. Production will continue at the Hollywood studio.

Big Stock Company Planned.

The whole producing department is to be turned into a large stock company. There will be less emphasis on separate stars, and more on "all star" casts.

Adolph Zukor, president of Famous Players-Lasky, and Jesse L. Lasky, first vice president, say that players are to be picked to fit the character hereafter and the characters not built to fit the stars.

Cecil B. De Mille is directing on the coast a screen version of "The Affairs of Anatol," in which such players as Wallace Reid, Gloria Swanson, Wanda Hawley, Elliott Dexter, Bebe Daniels, Agnes Ayers, Theodore Roberts and Dorothy Cummings are working together.

The Fox corporation was said to have eight companies working in its studio, which has accommodations for thirty.

At the offices of the Metro Pictures it was stated the number of releases in 1921 would be the same as 1920, with no additions to the starring ranks and that under the old methods of expansion in conformity with the growth of company they would have produced twice as many this year.

Vitaphone officials said they were not producing as many photoplays as in the past.

CHILEAN CABINET AFTER HARMONY IN SOUTH AMERICA

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
SANTIAGO, Dec. 28.—[By the Associated Press.]—Greater cooperation in all national efforts to solve the grave economic problems facing the country is urged in the ministerial program presented to congress today by Pedro Aguirre Cerda, minister of the interior in the new cabinet. The program hints at woman suffrage and a mild form of prohibition.

Regarding alcoholism, the proposals recommend suppression of open bars and restriction of production and importation of alcoholic beverages with gradual domination of wine production without injuring the capital invested.

11 STATE PARKS ARE MAPPED OUT AT CONFERENCE

Plans for the preservation of the natural beauty spots or pleasure grounds of Illinois by the establishment of a series of state owned parks were drawn up at the University club last night for presentation to the general assembly by a group of prominent men and women.

Following are the sites chosen:

1. The Mississippi river bank in Jo Daviess and Carroll counties.
2. The Rock River bluffs, to include the bluffs on both sides of the river from the Mississippi, through Rock Island, Whiteside, and Lee counties and well into Ogle county, with an extension to the White Pine grove of that county.

8. Mississippi river bank in Jackson and Union counties.
9. The Wabash river bank in Gallatin county.
10. The region of the mound builders' relics in Madison and St. Clair counties and Fountain Bluff.
11. Parts of the Ozark region extending across the state and including tracts of Union, Johnson, Pope, and Hardin counties.

WILSON CELEBRATES 64TH BIRTHDAY, LAST IN THE WHITE HOUSE

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28.—President Wilson, who entered the White House at the age of 56, today celebrated the sixty-fourth anniversary of his birth, his last birthday before retiring from office.

All members of the president's immediate family, with the exception of William G. McAdoo, his son-in-law, spent the day with him. Business engagements detained Mr. McAdoo, but Mrs. McAdoo, Mr. and Mrs. Francis B. Sayre, Mr. Wilson's son-in-law and daughter, and Miss Margaret Wilson, the third daughter, were present for an informal birthday party given by Mrs. Wilson.

Numerous messages of congratulation, including one from King George of Great Britain, were received during the day.

Mr. Wilson spent the day quietly and, with Mrs. Wilson, entertained at luncheon Miss Marjorie Brown, cousin of his first wife, and her fiancée, Benjamin Hill of New York, whose wedding took place tonight at the home of the bride. Mrs. Wilson, together with Mrs. McAdoo, Mrs. Sayre, and Miss Wilson, attended the wedding.

FIRING HALTS AS FOES AT FIUME DISCUSS TRUCE

Mayor of Besieged Town Lays Down Terms.

BULLETIN.
LONDON, Dec. 28.—The Duke of Aosta has arrived at Trieste and is proceeding to Abbazia to take part in the meeting between Gen. Ferrario, the Italian commander, and the Flume delegates, says a Milan dispatch to the London Times.

ROME, Dec. 28.—[By Associated Press.]—Firing on Fiume by the Italian blocking force will be suspended, it was decided at a conference in Abbazia today, according to advices received here.

The suspension was requested by the director of national defense at Fiume and the mayor of the city, who may Gen. Ferrario, commander of the blocking force, to discuss the possibility of ending hostilities.

At a conference in the morning the general informed the delegates that negotiations were impossible without prior recognition of the treaty of Rapallo. Such recognition having not been given, the delegates decided to return to Fiume to discuss the matter and asked for another meeting in the afternoon. They also requested a suspension of the firing, which was granted.

Premier Giolitti accepted an intervention in the senate today respecting Fiume, but declined to have it debated at the present time.

FIUME'S TRUCE TERMS.

LONDON, Dec. 28.—[By the Associated Press.]—A Rome dispatch to the London Times says the mayor of Fiume requested an interview Tuesday with Gen. Caviglia and an immediate armistice on the following conditions: First—Withdrawal of the government troops to their former positions. Second—The regency to evacuate Fiume and Arco and hand back the government vessels unharmed or with the promise that they will not be used against Fiume. Third—Control of the legionnaires from Fiume, independently of the Italian government. Fourth—The admission of a Flume delegate to the commission which is to settle the fate of Port Baross. These conditions are virtually those proposed by the government recently and were rejected by D'Annunzio.

LAST ACT UNDER WAY

ST. PAUL HUNT.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

TRIESTE, Dec. 27.—[Delayed.]—D'Annunzio, at present the world's star, is playing his last performance, which he is fighting for his life on the streets of the city.

Yesterday Gen. Caviglia's troops went through the barricades on the outskirts of the city, and for the last twenty-four hours a desperate struggle has been going on within the city walls.

The "mad poet" has sworn that he will die fighting for Italy, and he is going to forget his lines this time in the drama.

Comedy Turns to Tragedy.

It is 10 o'clock as I write. I have just returned from as near the scene of fighting as the authorities would permit. From the city came the familiar "frr, frr, frr" of machine gun firing, while on the beautiful bay below, three or four miles from Fiume harbor, the blockading destroyers swung at their anchors, and a gray battleship, steaming lazily to and fro, fired now and then into the city.

It was one of these shells, aimed at the palace, that is reported to have injured D'Annunzio.

Bombarded from Sea.

The bombardment is intended to silence the poet's land batteries and to level his barracks.

The destroyer Espero, one of the three recent deserters from the royal navy, is said to have received four hits and to be terribly damaged.

Fiume itself is bruised and terrified as only a town suffering from street fighting can be. The inhabitants are hiding in cellars and hundreds are without food.

Everywhere in army and official circles there is grim determination to finish the task.

FOR THE WELFARE OF WOMEN

Some of the delegates who are attending the Illinois Women's Legislative Congress. Seated, left to right—Mrs. Harriette Taylor Treadwell, Agnes Nestor, Mrs. Mark Mears, Mrs. Frank Lillie. Standing—Mrs. L. Cass Brown, Mrs. George Mathers, Mrs. Charles Scribner Eaton, Mrs. B. F. Langworthy, Mrs. T. W. Allinson, and Mrs. Lambert O. Wile.

DELEGATES of the Illinois Women's Legislative Congress, who are holding a three day convention at the Congress hotel, yesterday voted to work for legislation calling for a forty-four hour week, no Sunday work, and a minimum wage for women following the introduction of the program by Mary McDowell, head resident of Northwestern University Settlement house.

"You can house people, but we wish to 'home' people in this country," said Miss McDowell. "Don't think because we have the vote we have gained equality. We have to compete every day with men who have not yet obtained the vote."

Establishment of wage scales and working conditions for all workers by a scientific foundation composed of physiologists, psychologists and industrial engineers, was advocated by Dr. George W. Webster.

A resolution asking the legislature to repeal all laws tending to limit free speech and a free press, particularly as pertaining to industrial conditions, was introduced by Mrs. Frank R. Lillie, daughter of R. T. Crane, and was adopted unanimously.

GERT'S ESTATE DIVISION AGAIN BEFORE COURTS

The financial transactions involved in the administration of the estate of the late John Gerts Sr., former head of the Gerts & Bush Piano company—the estate is valued at $1,000,000—may again be aired as the result of a petition for an accounting filed in the Superior court yesterday. The matter has been the subject of court action several times in the last few years.

The petition was filed in behalf of Mrs. Emilie Huettner, a daughter of Gerts, against her brother, John Gerts Jr. It asks that the court instruct him to render a strict accounting of his management of the estate since his mother, the late Mrs. Caroline Gerts, Huettner is one of the three beneficiaries of her estate.

Under the will of the elder Gerts, his widow was to receive $6,000 a year in monthly payments and in addition certain interest on the capital stock of the Gerts & Bush Piano company.

The petition charges that the younger Gerts, as administrator of the estate of his father, failed to pay his mother the $6,000 a year. In addition to this amount it is claimed that the widow loaned the piano company $25,000 which has never been repaid.

4 DETECTIVES HURT AS AUTO UPSETS IN CHASE

Four sergeants from the detective bureau detail were injured, one seriously, when their pincer turned over at Fifty-fifth street and Washington park early this morning while they were pursuing a suspicious automobile.

The injured are: Fred Tapscott, 6820 Ridgeland avenue; serious. Alexander Gasperik, 521 East Eighty-seventh place.

Charles Scofield, Sixteenth and Morgan streets. Michael McFadden.

The accident happened on a curve. The car, the detectives were pursuing turned sharply around the bend. In following the detective bureau car skidded and turned over, pinning the occupants beneath. Their cries attracted pedestrians, who released them. The Wabash avenue police took the injured to the Washington Park hospital.

IRISH LEADER IS SLAIN BY POLICE AT TIPPERARY

Labor Commission Report Flays Britain.

BY JOHN LESTER.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

[Copyright: 1920: By The Chicago Tribune.]

DUBLIN, Dec. 28.—Mystery surrounds the death of James Mackey, a prominent Sinn Féin leader, while in the custody of military forces at Tipperary, which was reported today. He was arrested two days before Christmas. No information is available as to the cause of his death except that he was killed yesterday morning during a struggle.

The Countess Georgina Markievicz was sentenced today to serve two years in prison for her part in the organizing of the Fianna Éirinn, a Boy Scout auxiliary to the Sinn Féin. She was charged with conspiracy to murder crown forces.

LABOR CONDEMNS BRITAIN

LONDON, Dec. 28.—[By the Associated Press.]—A scathing denunciation of government methods in Ireland and a strong expression on the utility of coercive methods to suppress either the Sinn Féin movement or the "republican army" occupy the most part of the report of the labor commission which recently visited Ireland to study conditions there.

The report deals with all aspects of the present situation and the sentiment in Ireland, as well as specific study of reprisals. It shows incidentally that an appeal to Premier Lloyd George, signed by Arthur Henderson and William Adamson as late as Dec. 23, had failed to bring a response to the commission's desire to institute an "official truce" so that steps toward peace might be taken.

Irish Force Formidable.

Declaring the "Irish republican army" to be formidable, because intangible, the report says that if it were concentrated as an army it could easily be defeated, and it exists largely because of the sympathy and support of the vast mass of the population.

So great has been the provocation by the crown forces that 50 per cent of Irish men and women, continues the report, "now regard the shooting of policemen and the throwing of bombs at lorries with the same philosophy as the shooting of civilians in the presence of their wives and children."

"The destruction of creameries, etc., only serve to stimulate re-

NEW YORK BOOZE PERMITS LOOSE REAL STUFF HERE

How thousands of dollars worth of bonded whisky has been distributed among Chicago saloonkeepers through the sale of New York liquor withdrawal permits probably will be revealed in information to be turned over to federal authorities here today.

Investigators there have discovered the New York permits were sold here to liquor dealers. The latter filled out names of fictitious New York firms to withdraw whisky held in storage here.

Frank D. Richardson, Chicago's dry chief, yesterday destroyed the last hopes of hotel and cabaret owners for a "wet" New Year's eve unchaperoned by dry agents. In answer to requests from big loop and north side hotels for rules for New Year's eve, Mr. Richardson issued the following statement:

"Chicago hotels must obey the law. Every hotel, from the largest and most exclusive, to the smaller family hotels, will have its quota of dry agents assigned to check the first tendency toward law violation."

"Good will toward Americans is noticeable everywhere."

DE VALERA STILL "RESTS"

New York, Dec. 28.—[Special.]—Harry Boland, private secretary to Eamon De Valera, "president of the Irish republic," said today that the public would soon know the whereabouts of De Valera.

Mr. Boland would not say that De Valera was in New York or that he was in Ireland. He admitted that De Valera's failure to emerge from his "seclusion" had caused him much embarrassment.

Mrs. MacSwiney will sail for England next Saturday, it was announced today by the United States Mail Steamship company, on whose ship, the Pan-Ham State, she has booked accommodations.

SUNDRY CIVIL BUDGET REPORT IS DUE TODAY

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28.—[Special.]—Just how far Republican leaders intend to cut appropriations for the coming fiscal year will be disclosed tomorrow when the house committee on appropriations reports the annual sundry civil appropriation bill. This is the first of the large supply bills from the committee.

Advance information is that the bill as reported will total less than half the amount of departmental estimates. The estimates for such agencies of the government as are included in this bill totaled $303,000,000. The total carried in the bill will be about $385,000,000. The appropriations for the same agencies during the current year were $435,848,000.

The shipping board has asked for $147,000,000 for the coming fiscal year. While this amount is only a drop in the bucket compared to the expenditures of the board in former years, the estimates are understood to have made a considerable reduction.

Estimates for all departments and agencies totaled $4,700,000,000. Republican house leaders plan to cut this to less than $2,500,000,000.

The annual postoffice appropriation bill will be reported from the house appropriations committee Thursday.

DE VALERA STILL "RESTS"

New York, Dec. 28.—[Special.]—Harry Boland, private secretary to Eamon De Valera, "president of the Irish republic," said today that the public would soon know the whereabouts of De Valera.

Mr. Boland would not say that De Valera was in New York or that he was in Ireland. He admitted that De Valera's failure to emerge from his "seclusion" had caused him much embarrassment.

Mrs. MacSwiney will sail for England next Saturday, it was announced today by the United States Mail Steamship company, on whose ship, the Pan-Ham State, she has booked accommodations.

SOVIET WOMAN OUTWITS FRENCH; SURPRISES REDS

Slips Into Socialist Congress at Tours.

TOURS, France, Dec. 28.—Clara Zetkin, member of the German reichstag and of the executive committee of the Third International, whose passport, it is alleged, the French refused to issue, came suddenly into the hall where the French Socialist congress was in progress today, and the session became bedlam. M. Frossard, secretary of the French Socialist party, who was speaking for the Communists, was interrupted and the delegates escorted Miss Zetkin to the platform.

Clara Zetkin is a white haired woman of 60. She was attired in a simple brown dress and was cheered wildly. "The French have forbidden me to come," she said to the delegates, "but, like a good Communist, I came anyway."

Lock Doors of Hall.
The doors of the hall were locked and the telephone and telegraph wires in the hall disconnected, and no one was allowed to leave the building. She then continued her speech, denouncing the Scheldemanns, Noskes, and Renaudis of all nations. She also denounced the moderates and all those seeking to form an international in opposition to Moscow.

"Split your party to achieve more precious unity," Mme. Zetkin advised the congress. "I urge you to split from your party all social patriots and all vacillating Centrists, and form a single revolutionary force capable of discipline, vigorous action, and the emancipation of the proletariat."

Attacks Poland.
"The barbarians who destroyed the ancient cathedral at Reims belong to the same class, kin and family as those who destroyed the ancient cathedral at Kiev," she cried, referring to the Polish warfare against Moscow which was carried on with allied aid.

Madame Zetkin arrived late in the afternoon and spoke for half an hour. She then left with a small escort of friends; no one else was allowed to leave for twenty minutes, to enable her to depart secretly as she had come. It is believed that after leaving the hall she proceeded to the German frontier.

CHURCH TO HOLD "FAMILY PARTY."
A family party, to which the public is invited, will be held at the St. James Episcopal church parish, 69 East Huron street, tomorrow night. There will be folk dances, Christmas carols, a Christmas tree, and a reception for new members.

ROBBERS HOLD UP JEWELER; GET $15,000 IN LOOT

Escape in Waiting Automobile.

Walter Heurich, in charge of his father's jewelry store at 2056 Lincoln avenue, was shown a ring to a customer, Walter Till, of 4507 North LaVerne avenue, last night, when four men entered the store and asked to see a cheap watch. As Heurich turned to get the watch from a case, one of the men leaped over the counter, while the other three whipped out revolvers.

"Throw up your hands and get into that room!" commanded the leader, waving the muzzle of his revolver in the direction of a rear room. Heurich and Till obeyed and the door was locked from the outside.

Two of the men made straight for the safe, which was unlocked, and began removing the trays of jewelry. They took eight trays of rings, five trays of gold watches, and 100 lavalieres—about $15,000 worth in all—which they dropped into a gunny sack carried by one of them.

Then they fled to an automobile in which sat a fifth member of the band. From descriptions of the car given by witnesses who saw it speed away, the police are convinced it is the same one stolen from Henry Ostrowsky's garage at 3427 Fillmore street on the morning of Dec. 1.

After the robbers had left, Heurich broke the door down with an iron bar and notified the police and his father, August Heurich. Chief Hughes sent several squads of detectives out to see if they could pick up the robber car.

RED ENVOY SENT HOME, SO RUSSIA HOLDS YANKEES

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28.—[Special.]—A suggestion of retaliation on the part of the Soviet government of Russia for the deportation of Ludwig C. A. K. Martens by the United States was seen here today in reports to the state department from Baltic sources that a number of American citizens were included among foreigners who had arrived at Riga on their way out of Russia and had been turned back to Petrograd.

The Americans and other foreigners were refused permission to cross the border, the department was informed. The fact that all those seeking to leave

Russia were not Americans leads the department to believe that the decision to deport Martens had nothing to do with the action of the Soviet.

Asked what the United States could do, an official said he did not know unless it would be to send in a military force sufficient to bring out Americans who wish to leave.

That the attitude of the present administration toward the Soviet government is unyielding was emphasized today with the receipt through diplomatic channels of an account printed in a Russian newspaper in Paris of conversations recently held between Ambassador Jusserand of Paris and Secretary of State Colby.

"A detailed communication from the French ambassador in Washington, M. Jusserand," the article read, "giving a full account of his conversations with the secretary of state, has just reached Paris."

"Mr. Colby declared the American government has refused once and for ever to recognize the Soviet government, as it is based on mere force and does not represent the majority of the people."

RULING ON 'OPEN SHOP' SOUGHT IN KANSAS COURT

Topeka, Kas., Dec. 28.—The question of the "open shop" is before the Kansas Court of Industrial Relations. Application of the Fort Scott Sorghum-Sirup company of Fort Scott for abrogation of its contract with the local union of the International Brotherhood of Firemen and Oilers is the first case brought by employers under the industrial court act. W. L. Huggins, presiding judge, said today. Previous industrial disputes have been brought to the court by workmen.

Decision of the "open shop" question will have extraordinary significance, Judge Huggins said, because it will set a precedent for the states.

The industrial court act specifically recognizes the right of labor unions to bargain collectively, but also recognizes "the right of every person to make his own choice of employment and to make and carry out fair, just, and reasonable contracts of employment."

SAVANTS TOLD OF FIERY FLOOD FROM MT. KATMAI

Region Now Like Gate of Hell, Dr. Griggs Says.

The story of a flood more deadly than the biblical inundation which made a sailor of Noah was unfolded last night at the seventy-third annual convention of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. Dr. Robert F. Griggs of the American Geographic Society told about it in a lecture in the hotel ball at the University of Chicago.

Dr. Griggs spent several years in Alaska, investigating the eruption of Mount Katmai and the volcanoes in the Katmai region. He told of the flood of fire which—probably in comparatively recent years—swept the "Valley of Ten Thousand Smokes" in the Katmai region.

"We found in this valley no traces of life," Dr. Griggs explained. "Investigation revealed that a flood of molten sand—hot to the stage of incandescence—had come in a roaring, flaming torrent from some fissure in the earth and had swept through the valley as the water swept the country around Mount Ararat in biblical times. No living thing could have escaped that current of flame which tore through the valley for more than fifteen miles.

Like the Gate of Hell.
"Today the valley is like the gate to the inferno. On all sides smoke and steam come roaring from the bowels of the earth—Dante never dreamed of anything so impressive, so suggestive of the mouth of Sheol."

Dr. Griggs told how, in the far arc of the valley from which every bit of wood had been swept by the flood of fire, members of the expedition cooked their meals in the heat of the volcanic fissures, heated their tents by steam, and in a glacial cave a few feet from their camp froze such foods as required refrigeration.

"We had all the comforts of home," he said, "although our tents too often resembled a Turkish bath. Our bath in the Valley of Ten Thousand Smokes was a glacial lake clear as crystal. On one side a stream from a glacier flowed into it. On the other the steam from a volcanic fissure bubbled up. One could obtain any temperature of water desired merely by swimming about."

Dr. Griggs told of the ascent of Mount Katmai, which in an eruption a few years ago blew two cubic miles of perfectly good mountain into nothingness. At the bottom of the crater, he said, a lake of boiling water, clear as crystal, was found. The crater, he said, was the largest in the world, about eight miles in circumference.

Other Savants Dispense Their Lore.
Mathematicians, chemists, zoologists, biologists, and numerous other savants at the convention told of the advances of science in the last quarter of a century.

The weather prophets—officially the American Meteorological Society—discussed the idiosyncrasies of winter in Chicago, and declared the worst was over. The astronomers would have given a severe shock to the pious folk of the age that believed the earth flat and the stars the windows of heaven. The way they juggled old Earth around in an inconsequential atom in the universe made one a bit uneasy.

Educational Films a Feature.
One of the features of the convention is the exhibit of the Society for Visual Education. Prof. F. R. Moulton of the University of Chicago, secretary of the association, is a supporter of the doctrine that seeing is believing, so he has perfected some microphotographic apparatus that enables the motion picture camera to photograph the movements of microscopic bacilli. Germs so small a microscope must magnify them about 1,000 times to make them visible, appear on the screen as big as a crocodile.

A wireless telephony exhibit in the art institute attracted considerable interest among members of the industrial science branches. The sessions will continue throughout the week.

Push Drive for Fund

Chicago business men met at the Chicago club yesterday to push the drive to complete Chicago's contribution to the fund to save the freezing, starving children of Europe. Charles Rubens reported that the city had only raised $350,000 of its $1,000,000 quota.

Julius Rosenwald presided and said a systematic, heavy drive must begin at once and that every person connected with every kind of business in Chicago must be directly appealed to and the full amount of Chicago's quota subscribed. Each person at the luncheon was chairman of some particular industry or industrial group. Many reported that their divisions were already organized and were sending in money.

To arouse interest in the drive, a cartoon from the pen of John T. McCutcheon, shown above, has been reproduced to be placed in the windows of the homes and offices of those who subscribe.

FORGED PAPERS TO HOLD PULPIT, ETHERIDGE SAYS

Minneapolis, Minn., Dec. 28.—(Special.)—How his criminal career started by forging an ordination certificate so he could occupy the pulpit of an Episcopal church, was revealed today by John L. Etheridge, ex-president of the Morris Bros. bond dealers in Portland, Seattle and Tacoma, in jail here awaiting the arrival of Portland detectives.

Etheridge, intercepted here as he was making for England with about $1,000,000 worth of securities, says the incident referred to occurred while he was attending St. John's college at Cambridge, England, where he was being educated for the ministry.

Etheridge said he forged the ordination certificate, occupied the pulpit at Pickwillow, England, for several days and then went back to school. He served five months in jail for the offense and afterward came to America.

RED AVALANCHE POISED FOR NEW WESTERN SWEEP

Soviet Troops Massed at Strategic Points.

BY HENRY WALES.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
[Copyright: 1920: By The Chicago Tribune.]
PARIS, Dec. 28.—Soviet Russia is threatening to sweep westward again, according to secret information received by the French foreign office from the Baltic states, Poland, Armenia, and the Caucasus.

The foreign office is alarmed by the heavy concentration of Red troops at the pivotal Minsk sector, menacing Estonia, Latvia, and Poland, and in the Kamenez Podolsk area, which threatens Warsaw from the south and Roumania.

Caucasus Turning Red.
The whole Caucasus region, encircled by the bolsheviks, cut off from outside communications and abandoned by the allies, is turning red and establishing a soviet government. The complete sovietization of Armenia, Georgia, and Azerbaijan is regarded as imminent.

A conference is now in progress at Alexandropol between Pasha Kiazim Karabekia, representing Armenia, and Commissar Legrand, for the bolsheviks, which is expected to sovietize the whole region and to result in the red doctrine being carried to Persia.

Russ Troops in Latvia.
Approximately 50,000 Red troops have already crossed the Latvian frontier, and advance guards have already occupied several towns. The breaking off of diplomatic relations between the Latvians and the bolsheviks is expected because Commissar Ganetski was held up for forty-eight hours at the frontier by Lettish officers. Moscow sent a bitter protest, but the Latvian government disavowed the act. Estonia reports heavy masses of Red cavalry encamped along its frontier, and the Minsk concentration is being increased by daily drafts of reinforcements from Crimea.

Menace Roumania.
Following bolshevik threats to Roumania demanding evacuation of Besarabia, observers report a heavy concentration of troops and material in the Podolia district, which could move northward to the important rail center of Lemberg or southward toward Bucharest.

The extreme cold weather, freezing up the lakes and marshes, permits campaigning until March.

DAVID "MAKES SOME LAW" FOR CONTEMPT CASE

Judge Joseph David of the Superior court, to use his own phraseology, "made some law" yesterday. He decided that Detective Sergeant Edward Weber and Herman Otten should be cited for contempt of court because they turned over A. E. Pandolfo, a fugitive from justice, to a court messenger from Kentucky after Attorney Patrick H. O'Donnell had told them he intended getting out a writ of habeas corpus.

Attorney O'Donnell had filed a petition asking that the detectives be cited for contempt.

Assistant State's Attorney Robert O'Donnell argued that as no writ was pending when the prisoner was released, the judge had no jurisdiction over the detectives. After attorneys had agreed they could find no decisions covering the matter, Judge David "made some law." He gave the detectives thirty days to file an appearance in the contempt proceedings.

THE NAVAL HOLIDAY.

The proposal for negotiations for the limitation of naval armaments—that is, for a holiday in naval construction—has now gained the definite support of two of the leading irreconcilables, Senator Borah having introduced a resolution to initiate action by our government which he will press and Senator Johnson giving the idea indorsement in the senate Monday.

We can see no reason why the naval holiday plan should not receive the wholehearted support of senators on both sides of the covenant controversy. If a naval holiday does not cover all that the covenant advocates expected to reach by their ambitious scheme, it certainly will go a long way toward accomplishing one of its purported aims, namely, relief from the burden and threat of great armaments. On the other hand, a treaty of naval limitation, under definite conditions and for a fixed period, does not classify as one of those foreign entanglements which the "irreconcilables" and with them a large majority of the American people, wisely fear.

We hope, therefore, that when Senator Borah brings up his proposal before the foreign relations committee it will receive a cordial welcome and be given prompt and favorable consideration. We believe that if congress will act expeditiously upon this resolution the effect upon the terribly tense situation in world politics will be immediate and beneficial. There is good reason to expect a favorable reception of the project by Great Britain and if our government and England's will act with speed and decision we cannot but believe that Japan can be induced to agree upon terms.

The great relief which our countries will win by such an agreement in reduced naval expenditures is a consideration sufficient to urge speedy action by our respective governments. But the effect of naval limitation on the part of the great naval powers will extend beyond the affairs of the powers directly concerned. We think it will relieve tension and set an example. In the Pacific it may open the way to understanding on other points of contact, greatly diminishing the probability of a serious explosion in this arena of world affairs. It may suggest to European governments similar arrangements as to military armaments, and set the currents of policy running in the direction of peace and cooperation.

The arrangement will have to be strict and detailed in order to insure fair play and a sincere and thoroughgoing compliance by all concerned. The more reason, therefore, for expedition in getting the project out of congress and into the hands of negotiators. Such is the condition of international relations and the urgency of relief from taxation and the tension of fear that every day lost counts against peace and progress to world stability.

RUSSIAN BAD FAITH.

Ludwig C. A. K. Martens, Russian soviet representative in the United States, has been instructed by Tchitcherine, foreign minister, not to appeal from the order of deportation, but to surrender himself. Tchitcherine endeavors to imply that this is the end of an earnest, honest, but futile attempt of the Russian soviet to reach an understanding with the American people and government which would have been of great benefit to both.

Russia, says Tchitcherine, must resign herself to the fact that for the present at least she cannot overcome the hostility of the American government and must get along without the cooperation desired.

Soviet Russia cannot get along with any government or people until the attempt is made in good faith. Martens is deported because he used a supposedly friendly mission in an attempt to make political disturbance in the United States, just as the Russians sent to Great Britain tried to make political trouble for the British.

They could have had their trade agreements with the British government, but each time, just as the signatures were about to be put to the agreements, the soviet representatives would be discovered in some new abuse of their mission and in some fresh duplicity. It is the purpose of Lenin to establish proletarian government the world over. It is his theory that proletarianism and capitalism cannot both exist. He intends to destroy capitalism.

Russian agents have gone forth to get ready to reach agreements, to get materials, and to give contracts, but they have gone also to buy newspapers, start newspapers, spread bolshevik propaganda, and to try to undermine the system of government with which they ostensibly were dealing.

Their political morality does not recognize good faith and the world cannot deal with them. In various countries this is discovered and it results in the expulsion of the Russians, not because they are soviet representatives, but because they are provocative agents.

If Lenin discovered representatives of another country in Petrograd or Moscow subsidizing newspapers to promote a counter revolution, the healthy young Chinese who do the executing would have fresh work.

A system of government such as the soviet which under Lenin's influence proclaims that good faith is not a part of its policy cannot deal with a world which requires a recognition of good faith before it will undertake agreements.

Good faith may not prevail throughout all international dealings, but it must be recognized, and to recognize falseness and double dealing as essential to a policy is to make alien the persons holding the policy.

It is related that Italy arranged with Russia for an interchange of goods. The Italian goods were sent and in return two ships of Russian wheat arrived. The first shipment was in bad shape, but parts of it could be used. The second ship brought a cargo which nothing could make usable. The wheat was full of bolts, bricks, and filth. It could not be explained on any theory of accident or carelessness. The wheat deliberately had been spoiled. That ended the Italian attempt to deal with Russia.

When Russians learn good faith they may not have to resign themselves to their isolation. So long as they make contract perilsous and damaging they will be isolated. The first correction will have to be one of their own international morals.

A PRACTICAL MOVE AGAINST CRIME.

The transfer of four judges to help on the docket and bring speedy justice to criminals is a very practical step toward reduction of crime in Chicago. The assignments under Chief Justice McDonald, at the recommendation of State's Attorney Crowe, and in support of the anti-crime campaign of Chief of Police Fitzmorris, indicate a spirit of cooperation between the courts, the prosecutor and the police department which makes us hopeful of results.

Chicago has not yet entirely forgotten the practical results of the assignment of four extra judges to the Criminal courts last May. A high record of trials and convictions, including one murder case after another, was set. Cases which had been on the docket for years were brought to trial and adjudicated. The way was cleared for prompt action against the new defendants constantly being brought in by the police. The general result was excellent. But the good work was not completed.

Now it appears that the move of last spring is to be carried on to success. If the docket is really cleared of old cases, and criminals are brought to trial as promptly as the law allows, possibility of escape through technicalities, disappearing witnesses, etc., will be reduced to a minimum. The chastening effect upon the criminal element in Chicago will undoubtedly be notable.

Mr. Fitzmorris has already produced some practical results. In the face of growing unemployment with its incentive to crime, he has caused reduction in the daily record. Whether his methods are such as can be constantly used and produce permanent results is a question which his record only can answer, but so far they give promise. He is handling crooks and criminals without politics and without sentimentality there is reason to believe conditions will improve.

Prompt trials and sharp penalties will add the good work. Judges Dever, Gridley, O'Connor and Barnes, added to the Criminal court bench, are capable of assuring such action. When they assume their new duties on January 17 the criminals of Chicago will sense new difficulties in life.

THE RAILROADS NEED TO MAKE GOOD.

Thomas De Witt Cuyler, chairman of the Association of Railway Executives, announces that the railroad will not ask a further rate advance, but will seek to increase earnings by economies. Mr. Cuyler is about six months behind THE TRIBUNE in the assertion that this would be a good practical policy to follow if the railroads wish to remain under private operation, but we are none the less glad to welcome his announcement.

Recent wars from New England railroads have stirred a tremor of fear that the executives would be unable to carry the load. Their inability to make 5% per cent profit and the probability that an appeal for higher rates might result seemed to threaten all private operation of railroads. If Mr. Cuyler is right we can calm that fear for a moment.

If the executives cannot run the railroads the country may as well begin to prepare for a general shakeup of business controls. If we do not want a soviet or at least a socialistic regime our private managers of railroads and other great operations must show signs of ability. Business ability, mental and mechanical efficiency, energy, ambition, and shrewdness have placed the United States in the lead of the world of industry and commerce. There is no real reason to suppose we have lost these characteristics of success. If we have not lost them they should show themselves in a restoration of successful management. One of the best places for this to be demonstrated is in the railroads. The railroad executives will be wise to prove that Mr. Cuyler is not speaking idly.

WHERE ARE WE IN SHIPPING?

The senate has done well to call for an accounting from the United States shipping board and for other information as to the state of our government shipping experiment. The recent inquiry, to say nothing of the facts made public from time to time in the press, indicate that the situation requires clarification and a roundup of methods and results. Four billions have been expended under conditions not conducive to economy or efficiency. Congress and the people are entitled to know how this enormous sum has been expended and what we got for it. We certainly ought not to drift forward spending more millions or billions until we know what the prospects are for our enterprise.

The senate resolution asks how many ships the board has, how many idle and how many in operation, and for data on loss by idleness and depreciation. It asks for a prompt and concise report—devoid of arguments and intelligible to the average citizen.

We hope this opens the way to a showdown on the whole shipping experiment. The war is over. The emergency created by the German submarine campaign is past. The natural laws of commerce are operating again. The government shipping enterprise, if it is to be continued at great public expense, must justify its existence to the public mind.

Editorial of the Day

WHY THE LOWER COURTS!

(Kendall County Record.)

From the history of the criminal cases of Chicago during the last year, we are impelled to ask the reason for the lower courts. Scarce a case is known in which the defendant is found guilty of a crime and sentenced to hang but his attorneys start a delay in the execution of his sentence. First the Appellate court grants a stay, then the Supreme court grants a new trial or a stay of execution. Then the case hangs in the courts till the governor is appealed to. In justice to Gov. Lowden, let us say that he has landably kept out of interference with the course of law and has let sentence be executed upon Chicago criminals whenever possible. The Criminal court of Chicago and the jury have come to mean no more in the enforcement of law than an ordinary justice court. The verdicts in these courts are of no consequence—the appeals are made and often used to defeat justice.

Sympathy of sentimentalists and misguided efforts of biased criminal lawyers do much to permit the course of crime in Chicago. A man can shoot down another in cold blood and get away with it. The trial in the courts is but a method of freeing him. It might be better to take his case directly to the Supreme court and save the expense of the trial in the Criminal court.

A WORD TO THE WISE.

Will Worry was a timid lad,
Though wise beyond his years.
Each time he read the daily prints
It added to his fears.
"There's nothing in this town," he mused,
"But theft both grand and petit.
The moment one has anything,
Some bird will try to get it."

Then Will received a Christmas Card

From which might be a swiped.
So William took his worldly goods
And, with surprising ease,
And smoothness, he converted them
To tax-free memories.

"Ah, now I'm rich, indeed," he thought,
One night while walking home,
When mean Yeggs stopped him, found him broke,
And whacked him on the dome.
Forever gone the memories dear,
Forgotten all he knew!
Which proves to those requiring proof—
I don't know what, do you?

Grades at Parkview.

[From the Silver City, N. M., Enterprise.]
The Enterprise has recently added to the gayety of the nation by furnishing a paragraph that was unique enough to win a place in the celebrated "Line o' Type or Two" of B. L. P. It has appeared in the Cleveland, O., press and in other cities. Having thus been firmly launched on the road to fame this particular item will probably go on and on for years and years and years, until it is finally embalmed in stereotype and printed everywhere at once.

AND then new contributors will begin to send in the item, and complain lustily because we throw it on the floor.

A NERVOUS Frenchman, M. Bourgeois, has translated "The Playboy of the Western World" and can imagine no other success. "God help me, where'll I hide myself away and my long neck vask to the world?" becomes "Dieu m'aide, où vas-je me cacher et mon long cou tout nu?"

Sir: The W. G. N.'s "Memory Test" editor answers the question, "What does the abbreviation Q. & A. mean?" as follows: "It is from the Latin, quod est demonstrandum, which was to be proved." I think he has reached the end of his demonstration too hastily and that he should have allowed a writ of "ne exeat" to run against this answer before it left the jurisdiction.

Art and Economics.
(From The Athenaeum.)

We begin to note indications that the economic pressure upon the liberal arts is rapidly reaching an extreme point. The money of the world tends increasingly to be spent upon the bare necessities of life or upon absolute luxuries. The arts are neither of these things. They are the necessities of a civilized life. The truly civilized are the first to suffer under the pressure of modern conditions, largely because they are constitutionally debarred from devoting the whole of their energies to the making of money. They cannot maintain themselves at their old level in the social and economic world. They are largely unorganizable. It seems quite inevitable therefore that their marginal expenditure on books, theaters, pictures, and music should gradually dwindle to nothing. This does not necessarily mean that the general expenditure on these things will be greatly reduced; but that the discriminating expenditure that the artists of the better classes enjoyed will live.

The Hel-ht of Hospitality.
(From the Sample Case.)

In those good old days, days that most of our readers can well remember, the hotel was a place of refuge for the weary traveler. It was a place where one could rest and eat and sleep in the hotel, but we took our every meal there also. Before and after meals, especially in the evenings, we used to sit out on the veranda, lounge around the lobby or writing room, and visit not only with the other traveling men, but with the landlord and other local business men, yes, and often with the landlady as well.

FORETHOUGHT AND MARRIAGE.

GREAT many people write to this column asking about cousins marrying. Some of them have their minds made up and are awaiting the chance of getting a little backing.

Josh Billings said: "When a man asks you for advice, find out what kind of advice he wants and then give it to him and he will think you and he are two of the greatest men in the world."

Since my position on the subject of cousin marriages is more liberal than the law, some of these people think highly of me. But a majority of the questioners are seriously in doubt and are trying to get light on a difficult question. While the great majority marry in obedience to romantic love and many such make a mess out of it, the proportion who give the subject serious thought is larger than I thought possible.

In the first place, in many states there are laws prohibiting the marriage of first cousins. These laws were passed without any thought of eugenics and no great harm is done by the repeated infusions by roundabout procedures. East and Jones have recently written a very excellent technical book on the subject. They say inbreeding is not of itself harmful. Whatever ill effect it may have is due wholly to the inheritance of defective genes. Jersey cows, Berkshire hogs, Merino sheep, trotting horses, have been developed to the point they now are by carefully regulated inbreeding. Individuals with marked characteristics have been mated with a view to fixing good qualities in the stock. Bad qualities have been just as carefully bred out.

But the question is not so simple in the case of man. For instance, 200,000 people in this country are feeble minded and feeble mindedness is inherited. East and Jones estimate that one out of every four people carry in their stock a certain inheritable proportion of mental defective strain.

Shall the feeble minded intermarry and so beget a tribe in which all will be defective or shall they marry out and carry the pollution into new stocks? Since they tend so strongly to marry among themselves, East and Jones say that a person marries without investigating the heredity of his partner. In forty-two of every hundred marriages a mentally defective strain instead of one chance in fourteen.

This is the way they summarize. There is objection to indiscriminate irrational intensive inbreeding in man; yet inbreeding is the surest means of establishing families which as a whole are of high value to the community. On the other hand, the brightest examples of inherent ability have come and will come from chance matings in the general population, the common people so-called.

There can be no question of brains because families, however inbred, will remain variable while in existence and will bridge purposes is a tax on property, not on persons, and private property is taxed irrespective of military service of the owners.

NO EXEMPTION.
Chicago, Dec. 28.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—Does the law require a man on the reserve list of either army or navy to pay road tax? C. W. H.

The public expression of "road tax" may be taken to mean either a poll tax for highway purposes or a general tax levied for road and bridge purposes. The former, a poll tax for highway purposes, is assessed against the owner of the land on which the road or bridge crosses. The latter, a general tax for highway purposes, is assessed against the township.

The fact that a man is on the reserve list of the army or navy does not exempt him from the tax if he claims a residence within the township. The general tax for road and bridge purposes is a tax on property, not on persons, and private property is taxed irrespective of military service of the owners.

INVESTORS SEEK TO SAFEGUARD STEGER LOANS

Several thousand Greeks, investors in the schemes which George F. Steger, millionaire, and until recently treasurer of the Steger & Sons Piano Manufacturing company, is claimed to have promoted during the last ten years, organized yesterday to safeguard their investments, the sum of which is estimated at $500,000.

They chose the Pericles club of Chicago Heights, an organization whose membership includes influential Greeks of the South Chicago and steelmill district as their representative. Shortly afterwards Dr. S. K. Makris, president of the club, announced that a mass meeting will be held Sunday night.

The state of the manufacturer's finances was revealed Monday when he admitted to Probate Judge Henry Horner that his $1,500,000 estate had dwindled during the last year to a figure around $150,000. He told the court he seemed unable to manage his private affairs with success. Judge Horner appointed the manufacturer's brother, Chris Steger, president of the piano concern, conservator of the estate.

This action aroused the several thousand Greek investors. It is said, and their action yesterday was the result, Hayden Bell, attorney for Peter Trebel, one of their number who claims Steger owes him $125,000, said last night he regarded the appointment of the conservator of the estate a move on Steger's part to evade the payment of his investors.

"Steger has been borrowing money in amounts ranging from $1,000 to $10,000 from the Greeks of Chicago Heights, Hammond, Gary, and Steger, Ill. for ten years," Mr. Bell explained.

Dr. and Mrs. W. J. Libberton, both long prominent in Chicago's religious world, will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary tonight at the Chicago Engineers' club, 314 South Federal street. Their four children, Mrs. F. M. Waterman of New York and Dr. Raymond C. Libberton, Dr. Ralph E. Libberton, and J. Herbert Libberton, all of Chicago, will be present.

The Rev. W. J. Libberton has been a member of the Methodist Rock River conference for forty years and has been preaching in Chicago Methodist churches for twenty-seven years.

"He obtained the loans by promising interest of 30 and more. It looks like he is now trying to keep from paying the loans back."

The investors say they have been paid the interest regularly by Steger's agents. But they are worried now over the principal.

CITY WILL STAGE "BILLION DOLLAR" PAGEANT ON PIER

Festival to Boost Chicago
Planned for Fall.

Chicago's "Pageant of Progress," the huge exposition-festival which will bring 2,500,000 persons and $250,000,000 to Chicago, its backers declare, will be held in Grant park and at the municipal pier from Sept. 3 to 17, inclusive, Mayor Thompson announced yesterday.

According to Attorney Henry J. Kramer, director general of the pageant, the affair will be a "billion dollar show" where the assets of the exhibition are totaled. Of the $20,000 square feet of space reserved for exhibitors at the pier nearly 500,000 square feet has been sold at $2 a square foot, Mr. Kramer said.

The industrial division of the pageant will surpass the famous annual bazaar held at Lillie, Lyons, Leipsic, and Nipponogorod, Russia, according to Harry de Joannis, publicity director of the Boosters' club.

Two Shows to Be Combined.
The health and sanitation show, which was a $100,000 success this year, will be held in conjunction with the Pageant of Progress, and the profits of both shows will be split between the Boosters' club and the Chicago School of Home and Public Nursing.

The entertainment division of the pageant will be held in Grant park. Italian villages, cowboy roundups, a reproduction of the Chicago fire on a vast scale and two miniature cities one representing Chicago in 1830 and the other in 1920 with the recommendations of the Chicago plan commission shown as accomplished facts, will be among the attractions. Another, to be known as the "Clock of Years," with a 100 foot dial will mark progress of the city from 1830 to 1920.

Ships to Be Sunk.
The sinking of a ship by a torpedo each day in the lake, exhibitions of the use of depth bombs, interwar games and swimming and diving exhibitions are being planned to attract crowds to the beaches.

"We have sold 75,000 square feet of space to the American Mining congress and $4000 to exhibitors of safety devices alone," Mr. Joannis said. "Kansas wheat growers and Wisconsin cheese manufacturers, as well as hundreds of other lines are demanding more space than is available."

The Boosters' Publicity club, under the auspices of which the pageant is to be given, plans a drive for $300,000 next March.

"BUILDING TRUST"
INQUIRY STRIKES
TERRA COTTA MEN

New York, Dec. 28.—All but a small fraction of the American and Terra Cotta manufacturers of America exchange their price quotations and other data of the amount of business handled through national and regional associations, it was testified here today at the legislative inquiry into the alleged "building trust."

The medium through which the terra cotta makers reviewed data on the business of all their competitors was the National Terra Cotta society, its former president, William H. Powell, said the committee.

He explained an "open price system" of cards was issued, with each firm designated by code letters.

Cement manufacturers from various parts of the country who had been here attending a convention were summoned and appeared to undergo examination by Samuel Untermyer, committee counsel.

Mr. Untermyer charged that all the cement makers had "quadrupled prices since 1914 and had boosted them 50 per cent between January and October this year."

WOMAN LEAVES ART TREASURES WORTH $300,000

A gallery filled with a valuable collection of etchings and paintings by many of the world's master artists, and ornamented with a huge collection of Asiatic pottery and glassware, was discovered in the home of the late Lucy Maude Buckingham at 2035 Prairie avenue. An inventory filed yesterday in probate court disclosed this. The inventory values the collection at $300,000. The Chinese porcelain collection is worth approximately $32,065.

Miss Buckingham was the daughter of Ebenezer Buckingham, banker and capitalist. She is survived by a sister, Kate Sturgis Buckingham, and the major portion of the $2,500,000 estate is willed to her.

Among many pieces of English luster ware in the collection is an Ethen Allan coffee pot which the inventory lists as worth $200. Another unique collection consists of 1,716 Japanese prints.

GOOD FELLOWS ASKED WHAT TO DO WITH SURPLUS

Cash for Maimed Heroes
Continues to Come In.

BY REV. G. A. McWHORTER.

Good Fellows! Your good work has gone on until now we are obliged to ask you what we shall do with the surplus fund that has accumulated since Christmas eve for the maimed heroes in Chicago service hospitals. Yesterday's mail brought in $136.39, making the total $2,205.19. When the Good Fellow Christmas envelopes for the wounded men were made up crisp new $1 and $2 bills were placed in each envelope—43 for men—and exactly 1,075 envelopes were distributed among the hospitals. The list in the Christmas Tribune, which made a total of $3,225.00. Now we have almost enough money left to send another $2 bill to every wounded service man in Chicago. We want some expression of opinion from you Good Fellows as to what we shall do with your money. Shall we make a New Year's gift of $2 to each wounded man that was remembered at Christmas with your $3 gift—or use the balance for them in some other way? Our own inclination is to give it as a New Year's greeting—and we think the cash is acceptable to them rather than to buy things with it.

Letters of Thanks.

Two letters of thanks have come from the Marine and Drexel hospitals to Good Fellows. L. M. Wilbur, surgeon in charge of the Marine hospital, wrote:

"Were you Good Fellows of Chicago have no other thanks than the expressions of sincere pleasure and genuine joy that came from Marine hospital boys when your Christmas envelopes containing the money gifts were distributed among them. I feel sure you would feel fully rewarded for your splendid work."

"You put a happy, contented smile on the face of every patient. More than one man, when he tore open his envelope and discovered the money—showed conclusive evidence of the time and welcome of your gift. On behalf of the patients of this hospital, I wish to extend our sincerest appreciation of your timely remembrance."

Joy at Drexel Hospital.

J. W. Jorgensen, director American Red Cross at the Drexel Boulevard hospital, wrote:

"On Friday afternoon, Dec. 24, we received 600 envelopes, each containing $3 in currency and bearing on the outside an appropriate greeting to the wounded men from the people of Chicago who, through THE TRIBUNE's Good Fellow department, had made this gift."

"The patients and the commanding officer join with me in thanking you, people of Chicago, for this splendid gift, which did more than anything else towards making this Christmas a joyous occasion for the patients of Drexel hospital No. 30."

Two More Second Infantry Companies Are Federalized

Companies F and G of the 2d infantry, 1st N. G., were mustered into federal service. The 2d now has ten companies which have been mustered since Oct. 1—when the new national guard act was passed—and its roll includes 530 names. Lieut. Col. W. H. Patterson, U. S. A., represented the federal government at the mustering last night and Col. W. A. Swanson, who commands the 2d, represented the state.

LIEUT. JOE M'GEEAN LOSES HIS FIGHT WITH PNEUMONIA

Police Lieut. Joseph McGeean of the detective bureau died yesterday at his home, 3237 West Harrison street, following a three weeks' illness of pneumonia. For a time it was believed he would survive, when Dr. Herman N. Bundson, health department expert, administered a serum prepared with the aid of Dr. Robertson, health commissioner.

Lieut. McGeean was 44 years old. He was transferred to the bureau from the Pillmore street during the recent police shakeup by Chief of Police Fitzmorris, and was assigned to charge of gambling raids. Nov. 23, at a reunion of "old timers" at the Somerset hotel, Lieut. McGeean celebrated his twentieth year as a member of the police department.

Lieut. McGeean was a member of the Hidebrand council, K. of C.; La Salle general assembly, K. of C.; St. Charles chapter of Foresters, and the Policemen's Benevolent and Protective association.

RENEW FIGHT TO BRING BROKER OF RICH WIDOW BACK

Preliminary steps towards bringing back Charles F. Fishback, former Chicago broker, from New Mexico to face trial in Milwaukee for the alleged disposition of the $1,000,000 estate of Mrs. Vesta E. Pillsbury will be taken by the Wisconsin authorities after the first of the year, it was announced yesterday. The new governor of New Mexico, who takes office on New Year's day, has signified his willingness to sign extradition papers for the removal of Fishback to Wisconsin. Attempts to extradite the broker two years ago failed because the governor of New Mexico refused to sign the necessary papers. Fishback sought refuge in the southern state after the Wisconsin courts had twice ruled against him and refused to admit to probate the Pillsbury will making him sole heir of the estate. The case attracted country-wide attention at the time. Mrs. Pillsbury, who was left $1,000,000 when her husband died in 1890, met Fishback in 1917 when he was a Chicago bond salesman. The wealthy widow made him manager of her estate and shortly afterward he organized Porter, Fishback & Co., dealers in investment securities. Mrs. Pillsbury was a sort of "silent partner" in the firm. Fishback maintained expensive homes in Highland Park and Chicago. Following Mrs. Pillsbury's death it

SHOOT WITH YOUR KICKSONPHONES! ALL'S O. K. AGAIN

The Chicago Telephone company, now the Illinois Bell Telephone company, yesterday sent out the word to its patrons that the service has "come back."

"From now on any bad service need not be ascribed to 'war conditions' and not reported," the company states. "We should be promptly advised when things go wrong."

B. E. Sunny, president of the company, gave details of the struggle to improve service conditions at his annual luncheon to the company's supervisory forces.

"We started 1920 with a shortage of 1,431 operators," Mr. Sunny said. "We should have had 8,419 on the pay roll and we had 7,005. Heavy traffic and the 'flu' made matters worse in the spring months. Conditions were bad all through the summer, nor did they improve greatly until September and October. Since then the change has been marked and most favorable."

from operating errors. We have reached a percentage of 95.4.

"On Dec. 15 we required 7,804 operators and we had available 8,083—278 more than was necessary."

"It is a matter of congratulation that we have at last come back and that we can announce to the subscribers that we have overcome the conditions that for so many months prevented us from giving the kind of service that Chicago for years had been accustomed to."

Wants U. S. Tax Upon Bonds of States and Cities

Washington, D. C., Dec. 23.—[Special.]—To give congress power to tax state, county and municipal bonds, Representative McFadden, Pennsylvania, chairman of the house committee on banking and currency, today introduced a resolution proposing a constitutional amendment.

OHIO'S ELEVEN RULES FAVORITE IN COAST GAME

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

(Copyright, 1920, By The Chicago Tribune.) Pasadena, Cal., Dec. 28.—[Special.]—

Ohio State, western conference football champion, which will meet California at the famous game in one of the most important inter-collegiate struggles of the year, should rule favorite when the teams take the field.

This statement is made after the writer has seen the Pacific coast champion practice for three days. It is of California, while the caliber of football played by the Buckeyes is well known to followers of the game in the middle west, California cannot be said to be as highly developed eleven as Ohio and it has not the complex formations.

Ohio Boys are Fighters.
The Californians have not been put to the acid test as have the Buckeyes. Coach Smith's men have won their games in easy fashion while some of the invaders' battles were not decided until the closing minutes of play. Formations used by the Golden State eleven will not gain as they did against eleven in this section.

The chief ground gaining weapon of the Californians is their off tackle drives or bucks. They have won most of their games by this formation which cannot be expected to gain against a team of Ohio's caliber. Captain Huffman and Spier, Buckeye tackle met this sort of attack successfully when Michigan was defeated 14 to 7. It is certain that the California backs do not possess the power of the Wolverines.

Praise for Ohio Line.
From tackle to tackle, the Ohio line should outplay the California forwards. Nemecsek at center and J. Taylor and Trot, guards, are a formidable center trio, while Capt. Huffman and Spier are tackles of the reliable type. While California has a strong forward wall the only players who matches with any of the Buckeye linemen is McMillan, tackle, who was chosen for the all-Pacific conference eleven and Majors, the guard.

In fact, battle will be decided by the playing of the forwards. It is known that Coach Andy Smith is relying upon his line to break through to hurry Workman on his forward passes. Coach Wilcox of Ohio also is aware of this fact and he has impressed his forwards with the importance of holding their ground to permit the quarter back to delay as much as possible before hurling the ball.

Advantage Back of Line.
Back of line Ohio should have advantage despite the much heralded prowess of Morrison, Spragg, and Toomey. This trio cannot be said to be the equal of Blair and Stigebomb, half backs, and C. Taylor at full back. California does not have the clever warriors of the Stigebomb type, who may be the main factor in deciding the issue.

While Erb, the California quarter back, is a clever field general, he does not possess the all around ability of H. Workman.
The Buckeye field general can pass, kick, or run. In taking the ball from the center he uses the double threat of run or pass which will cause the Californians no end of trouble to stop.

No Advantage in Punting.
There is little to choose in the actual punting of Morrison and H. Workman. Each can kick the ball consistently for 40 yards, and whatever advantage either gains will depend upon the ability of the ends to cover the kicks.

Considering every angle of football, offensively and defensively, it is hard to figure anything but a stubbornly fought battle, with Ohio the favorite. If the Buckeyes score early in the way they will win handily, but if California presents a stubborn defense the game will be won by a small score.

The weather today was too hot for good football practice. Even the Californians, who have been more accustomed to playing under today's conditions than Ohio, felt the heat and did not go about their work in customary fashion.

PIN KENTERS CLOSE TONIGHT.
Entries for the Windy City bowling tournament closes tonight at 12 o'clock. Two hundred teams already have entered. Games may be made at Crouse's bowling alley, 127 North La Salle, and Twenty-second Street, Chicago. The tournament starts Jan. 15.

ATHLETIC RESEARCH CHIEF STRONGLY IN FAVOR OF BOXING

A plea for the teaching of boxing to every boy, particularly in the older grades in the public schools, was expressed by Dr. A. K. Aldinger, director of physical training of the public school system of Greater New York, at yesterday's annual sessions of the Association for Athletic Research at Hotel Sherman.

The sessions of the association were attended by Dr. A. K. Aldinger, who is a well-known director of the middle western intercollegiate conference, many of the great eastern universities, and Y. M. C. A. public school, and city and civic center athletic directors.

Aldinger Leading Speaker.

Dr. Aldinger, who helped the Chicago Tribune clinch last spring's intercollegiate championship high school basketball game between New York High School of Commerce and Lane Tech of this city is president of the Research association, and was the principal speaker. W. H. Ball, representing the National Y. M. C. A., was another speaker.

"Every boy should be taught to box," Dr. Aldinger said, "but I do not think boxing should be taught in the elementary grades. The boys in these lower classes are too young. In New York we have boxing gloves in every high school, and hold regular boxing classes."

Purpose of Association.
President Aldinger outlined the purpose of the Association of Athletic Research as "to study athletics in all details, so as to make the phases of athletic activity and procedure more efficient and raise the general standard of athletic performance."

The convention of the National Intercollegiate Athletic association will be held today. These sessions are expected to result in action of considerable moment in the realm of college sports.

Action also probably will be taken today regarding the formation of a new middle west intercollegiate body of smaller colleges from Minnesota, Iowa, Wisconsin, Illinois, and Indiana.

WOODS and WATERS

by LARRY ST. JOHN

ON DISAPPEARING QUAIL.
L. P. Cary, Ill., writes: In an issue of recent date I read your queries on the quail. On my place in Michigan, near Allegan, I have noticed a great falling off in the number that frequented my farm. The farmers told me that the deep snow of 1917-18 caused the death of many; they could not find anything to eat. We never had any rail fences in my section, but plenty of passafra hedge and also sumac.

I never shot any, and did all I could to entice them near the house. They grew so tame I could call them almost to the kitchen door by imitating their Bob White whistle.

The recent increase in gophers on my back lot may have something to do with their disappearance, also the presence of a flock of pheasants which have lately ranged on my place. The pheasants escaped from a nearby farm and have been wild ever since.

In the fall the almost constant bang of guns of hunters from various towns may have scared the quails away; anyhow, they are now very scarce around my farm, and I regret it very much, as they are such cheery neighbors, with their merry call.

I note also the absence of the veery, or wood thrush, which used to nest in my orchard. The roving of a bevy of cats may also have much to do with the absence of the feathered tribe. I killed all my cats years ago, and wish my neighbors would do the same.

Every spring Jenny Wren comes back to her little house close to my kitchen door, and the absence of cats and dogs on my place no doubt has much to do with her yearly call. Whenever she sees a cat I can hear her drive the intruder away.

Yours for the protection of song birds.

FARM and GARDEN by Frank Ridgway

CONCRETE hotbeds should be made now for ready use early in the spring. Gardeners in this climate need a hot bed for the growing of early plants, and where they are used season after season it is cheaper to build them of permanent material. Where they are made out of wood they do not last long. When hotbeds are made of concrete they will last indefinitely.

More and more of the market gardeners are replacing their wooden frames of hotbeds with concrete. Even the home gardener finds that it pays. With a good hotbed fresh vegetables can be produced much earlier, and plants, such as tomatoes and cabbage, can be started several weeks before it is warm enough to do outdoor planting. With a permanent bed the gardener is sure of having early plants.

In building a concrete bed the excavator should extend below the frost line. Three feet below the surface of the ground is a safe depth here. In building the forms for the walls allow about five and one-half feet between the inner surfaces, and make the walls about 10 inches thick below the surface of the ground. The wall above the ground need not be more than six inches thick for the bases to rest on.

The hot bed may be made any length. One part cement, two and one-half parts of sand and four parts of pebbles or broken stones forms a good mixture. The low wall on the south side should extend above the ground about six inches and the back wall about twenty inches.

W. and J. Grid Captain May Enter West Point

Washington, Pa., Dec. 28.—Ed Garbisch, captain of the 1920 football squad of Washington and Jefferson university, may enter the United States Military academy next fall, it became known here today. It is regarded as likely Garbisch can secure an appointment to the academy, in which case he would be a candidate for the 1921 football team.

BADGER FIVE AT WORK.

Madison, Wis., Dec. 28.—After being disbanded for the holidays, the University of Wisconsin basketball squad resumed training last night in preparation for their first conference clash with Northwestern at Evanston on Jan. 3.

VANCOUVER SETS WINS.

Vancouver, B. C., Dec. 27.—The Vancouver hockey team defeated Victoria, 6 to 3, last night.

PRACTICE QUEST BRINGS MAROONS JOLT BY ALUMNI

In a final workout before the Princeton game tomorrow night, Coach Stagg's University of Chicago basketball team scrimmaged with a team composed of alumni stars and was defeated, 25 to 30.

The alumni jumped into a 9 to 8 lead at the start, but the veteran Maroon team was in better condition and forged ahead, 22 to 13, at the half, due to four baskets in quick succession by NELSON NORNGREN, Birkhoff.

In the second half a full team of Maroon substitutes was sent on the floor and the alumni proved too strong, gradually pulling up close and forging ahead in the last two minutes, when Nelson Norngren started a flurry of shots through the hoop. Romney, former Utah star, who will be eligible for the Maroon varsity next year, did good work for the alumni. Score:

Chicago (30)	Alumni (32)
Birkhoff, Jr., 12	Norngren, 12

Halladay, Jr., 2	Faine, 6

New Yorker Here to Fix Skating Race Details

Dr. A. K. Aldinger, a member of the New York board of education, will be present as the representative of Mayor Hylan at today's meeting of the city skating commission to arrange the details of a skating contest between New York and Chicago school children. Tentative plans call for two special cars to take the contestants to New York and return.

Former Purple Stars Will Oppose Northwestern Five

Two former Northwestern varsity captains, Paddy Driscoll and Al Marquardt, will play with the Chicago Big Five against the purple Friday night at Ashland auditorium, Van Buren street and Ashland boulevard. The curtain raiser, with Armour Square Cornells opposing Jefferson Blues, will start at 8 o'clock.

BOXING BOOSTERS FOR CONTROL BY NATIONAL BOARD

BY RAY PEARSON.

It's a great plan and if worked out the right way would make boxing a great sport, not for a day, but for all time.

That was the answer we got from nearly every person yesterday when we inquired what they thought of the move to form a national body to govern and control professional boxing. This organization is to be formed in New York on Jan. 10, 11, and 12, when delegates appointed by the governors of eighteen states will meet. These delegates will form the nucleus for an organization which is expected to be in time included every state in the union.

Believe in National Control.

Having said that "nearly" every one questioned approves of the plan, it might be worth while to also state that no one person asked for an opinion, assumed the negative side. Some of these, however, seemed to regard the proposition as not affecting Illinois at this time because boxing is not legal in this state. But they did believe that a national organization controlling the sport would prove highly beneficial from every standpoint.

It is generally conceded that the formation of a national body would help the cause of boxing in many states which have closed the doors to the sport in past years.

Should Prove Popular.

This would naturally include Illinois, which bids fair to pass at the next session of the legislature a measure which will make boxing legal. When this bill is passed, boxing can be governed and should prove just as popular as basketball or any other sport.

President Richard Collins of the Chicago Athletic Association is one of those who is strongly in favor of national control of boxing, with regulations. President Collins always has been in favor of the sport, but he wants it to be a "sport for sportsmen, not a sport for sports." Also he is of the opinion that there are many men in the country to take a hand in the government of the game and that it would be "controlled by sportsmen, not by sports."

Makes Position Clear.

The distinction between sportsmen and sports is made by commercialism, says the C. A. A. president and in explaining it is necessary to use the term commercialism.

"Boxing is a great sport when properly run and I think that an organization such as proposed would make it as popular as baseball. But care would have to be taken every step of the way in the formation of such an organization. The officers of this national body should be men who see boxing from the viewpoint of sportsmen—not from the viewpoint of commercialism. The glove game should be built of something besides commercialism, for that is what it is, at this time."

There are any number of men who are boxing for boxing's sake, who do not even think of money in connection with the sport. These are the kind of men who should be at the helm and with them there it is certain they would instill in those who come under their control the same spirit of sportsmanship which does not come of commercialism.

Thinks Plan Is Good.

It is a good plan to place boxing under control of a national organization. Such an organization could knock out the harmful money grabbing that has hurt the sport, and instill some real sportsmanship into it. We want boxing in Illinois."

FRAZER RELEASE MAKEUP.

BATTLING NELSON HOPES TO BECOME N. Y. RING REFEREE

New York, Dec. 28.—(Special.)—Bat Nelson, the old time lightweight champion, is going to be a referee. The famous battler has filed his application with the boxing commission and expects to get the necessary permit in a few days.

When the hero of a hundred fights visited the offices of the commission today he expressed absolute confidence in his ability to handle the indicator and referee should.

BATTLING NELSON said as they should.

"When I get on the job," Bat said, "I am going to see that the boys live right up to the letter of the rules. No unnecessary slashing, and when a count is due you will find me right on the spot. I'll be boss of the works while the boys are at it and every one can expect a fair deal."

Freddie Welch, Back in Ring, Knocks Out Foe

Newark, N. J., Dec. 28.—Freddie Welsh, who retired after losing the world's lightweight boxing championship to Benny Leonard, in 1917, returned to the ring tonight and scored a technical knockout over Willie Green of Boston, after four rounds of a twelve round match. Green refused to respond to the bell for the fifth round, claiming he had injured his shoulder. The former titleholder had little difficulty in outboxing his opponent.

Rain Again Postpones Davis Cup Tennis Play

In the Wake of the News

THE OTHER SIDE OF IT.

(From the Post-Examiner Herald, under the title "Very Poor Humor.")

Every now and then we pick up a big city daily and find it poking fun at weekly papers, papers printed in towns the size of Fort Washington, about printing persons regarding some farmer who has painted his barn or brought in a prize pumpkin of the season. And such alleged humor and cheap jokes gets on our nerves.

Pick up a Sunday paper printed in any big city and read the gush about the costume Miss Jones wore to the theater. Read about Miss Smith's atrocious chiffon taffeta, and you'll want to step out in the back yard and throw a fit.

The absurd thing about the big city paper is it picks out some narrow circle which calls itself the "Four Hundred."

gives it the name "Society," and ignores the honest hard-working people of the place unless they get into the police court.

When you read that Farmer Smith has painted his barn you learn that something has been done to improve the community and put it on a better economic basis. But when you read how the "Four Hundred" are parading around in party clothes or pajamas—and it doesn't make much difference with a lot of them—you read of something that is of no benefit to any one on earth. On the other hand, you get a pretty fair idea of what makes for bohemism in this country.

His Christmas.

A dandy street—a little shop (one who could use a friend); Keeping his tattered garments on seemed trouble without end.

A poor old sled—one runner gone—He trailed along he full of holes St. Nick had failed to find.

"And what did Santa bring you, kid?" He young eyes seemed to glow; "He didn't bring me a thing, I say, So he brought us all his snow." Elmer C.

Johnny Wilson, Champ?

Johnny Wilson's vicious grip on the middleweight title—viscious because he refuses to enter the ring—has finally annexed the so-called goat of Mike O'Dowd, former holder.

O'Dowd clings to the old fashioned idea that a champion should fight. No reply came to his recent cash offer to effect that Gen. Sheridan met the order bravely owing to the fact that he had "smelled powder before."

The use of face powder in those good old days was looked upon with disfavor by well bred people. S. M. B.

EIGHT INDICTED SOX TO BE PUT ON TRIAL WITHIN THREE WEEKS

The preliminary hearing for the eight Chicago American league baseball players and five alleged gamblers who were indicted by the Cook county grand jury in connection with the alleged "throwing" of games in the 1919 world series will be held within three weeks, and the trial will begin shortly after.

Stage's Attorney Robert E. Crowe announced last night.

Crowe assigned George E. Gorman, second assistant state's attorney, to handle the case, and ordered him to prepare for an immediate trial. Crowe refused to say whether Hartley Replegie, former assistant state's attorney, who handled the grand jury investigation, would be connected with the prosecution of the indicted men. The grand jury in its report, recommended that Mr. Replegie be employed as a special prosecutor.

Gorman last night said he had not had time to go into the case thoroughly, but expected to devote the next few days to a study of the grand jury investigation, after which he would set definite dates for the preliminary hearing.

FRAZEE LETTER TO BAN JOHNSON VANISHES IN MAIL

President Johnson of the American league has declined to reply to the "broadside" emanating from New York, supposedly from Harry Frazee of the Boston Red Sox, in support of Col. Huston of the Yankees, until he received a copy of the open letter Frazee is alleged by the dispatches from Gotham to have forwarded to American league headquarters demanding the resignation of the executive.

As to the contents of the missing letter Mr. Johnson declined to speculate further than to say the intimation he was endeavoring to make a political issue of the Cook county indictments against ball players and others implicated in the 1919 world's series scandal was untrue. His position, as always, was in favor of prosecuting the crooks of baseball to the limit.

Producers and director deserve a world of praise for the excellent adaptation of the play "The Great Lover," by the Hattens, in which Leo Dietrichstein created the title role. The cinema version is smoothly and beautifully acted and photographed, with the Jean Paul of Mr. Sainpolis making a close second to that of Dietrichstein's portrayal.

For some reason or other we don't see much of John Sainpolis. Each time he appears, though, he whets appreciation for and curiosity regarding him. A fine actor, of polished manner and pleasing personality.

Jean Paul, you know, is a singer, and the idol of the feminine heart susceptible. A great lover, he is, succumbing endlessly to the lure of bright eyes, the intonations of a soft voice, the touch of fragrant hands. Not a trifle, for each affair is the great adventure while it lasts, and Jean Paul is only irresponsible, never evil.

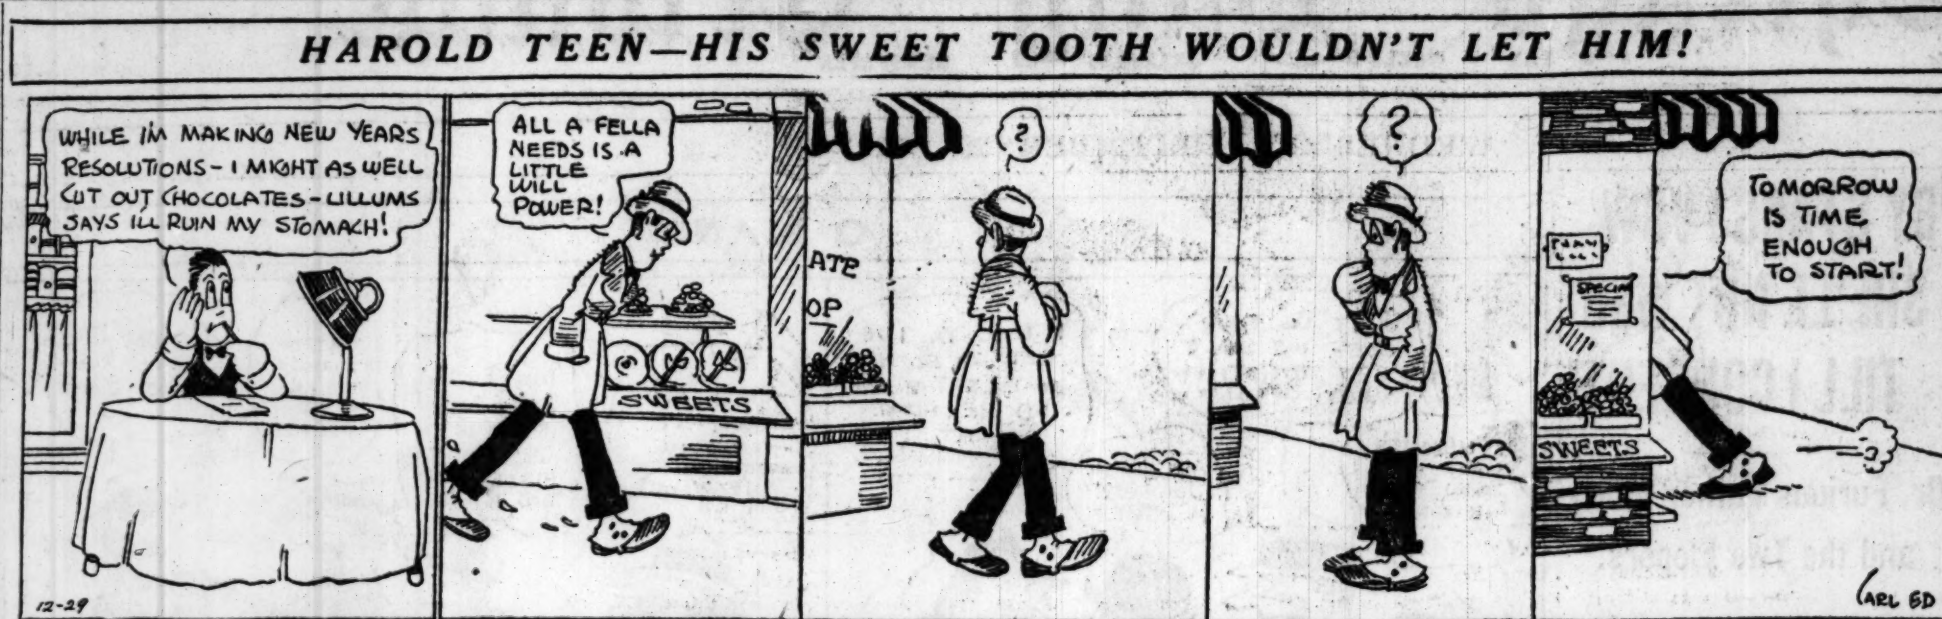

An always gallant gentleman he is, meeting the great tragedy which becomes his with the loss of his voice as he has met his lighter mishaps.

"It is life," he says with his resigned and whimsical shrug, and with the same shrug casting his black mood from him, he answers the telephone and joyously dates up the blonde lady at the other end for a little lunch, yes? (George Cohan added that touch. The play with a sadder ending did not go.)

"The Great Lover," while primarily a study of the temperament artistic, presents an interesting story and a well worked out plot. In the picture the sets are fine, the photography is splendid, and the cast not to be improved upon. The hand of a master has touched it and made of it a human and exquisite thing.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Lemon Marmalade and Syrup.

Some people consider that by heating a lemon in the oven the flavor of its juice is improved, and then by this process and rolling one may get more juice than otherwise.

Everybody, nearly, knows that lemon juice with as much sugar as it can take up is excellent for sore throats and even for coughs.

And after the juice has been squeezed out of the lemon, the rind may be used for making pectin, or for no end of toilet purposes.

Lemons alone may be made into a marmalade following a general method that is good in the case of all citrus fruits. Wash and cut fruit into the thinnest of slices of dice, removing the seeds. Measure and add water up to three times as much as fruit. Let stand twenty-four hours, then cook gently until the hardest parts are tender and let stand another twenty-four hours, or twelve will do. Measure all, add an equal quantity of sugar, and cook till it jellies. The best success is obtained by cooking but a few glasses at a time.

Perhaps the best way to save lemon juice for lemonades is to add to it an equal measure of water, then as much sugar as the two make of liquid. Cook to jelly stage. This will be more like a thick syrup than a jelly, but will hold up perfectly, which may be used to cover it.

D. B.: STRUCTURE OF GREEN skin is good for shampooing—but it's better reduced to a liquid by adding a little boiling water to it. Tar soap and sulphur soap are also good for the shampoo, particularly recommended in cases of dandruff.

A. S.: THERE SEEMS TO BE A difference of opinion among experts as to the advisability of the daily bath of the eye with boric acid. If the eyes are strong and well they need no other bath than that which they get when the face is washed. If there is a weakness bathe them every night in a saturated solution of boric crystals and four ounces of clear boiled water, meaning lightly. If you are wearing a veil with a pattern that comes over the eyes, you better substitute a patternless one to go with face unveiled.

Galli-Curci's Magic Casts Golden Spell Over 'Lakme' Audience

BY RUTH MILLER.

Anything may happen when one goes to India for an operatic heroine. Even to the discovery of a dusky damsel with a miracle voice like Galli-Curci's, and a helpful handy knowledge of operatic lore. Built around such a gifted feminine "Lakme" opera of Hindoo draperies, tropical scenery, and oriental music, came to its second performance at the Auditorium last evening. This lyric cousin of "Butterfly" never boasted of a superabundance of dramatic life and energy. But, while it lacks intensity and depth, enough superficial loveliness is there.

Last evening Galli-Curci sang that exquisite barcarole "Why Love I Stray," whose strains wind invitingly in and out through the score, with all the exquisite tonal shadings at her command. Need we record that her lovely singing of the Ball Song, that delicate rondo, which she sang with such grace and style, was a masterpiece of vocal art. It did not quite topple over this time, though.

It seems that as the season progresses the voice of this priceless jewel among coloraturas gains in warmth, depth, and volume in the middle register. I almost added mellowness to that enumeration, but Galli-Curci's voice is already the quintessence of that.

There we tackle the principal reason the little lady gained a reputation for false intonation among the eastern critics. She always trills on a hair, when sometimes, to maintain the musical logic, she should trill a whole note.

To add a note that is not vocal. Have you ever seen hands that fall so gracefully from the clouds, quivering with such sensitiveness, as Mme. Galli-Curci's?

Now comes the unpleasantness. All operatic Polyannas will please read no further.

Schipsa, usually perfect foil of Galli-Curci, was not at his best. In the duet in the first act there was a definite uncertainty. Then his voice seemed tired. And to overcome that quality, he sacrificed something of its honey for volume, producing a rather shallow loudness.

Piano, piano, pianissimo, Mr. Schipsa. Of the conventional tricks of the singing trade, the first to remember is that the singer's voice should be as soft as the listener's heart and cover a multitude of vocal weaknesses. There are two certain roads to operatic success: to have a voice that is all like the Ruffo's or that is all like the Ruffo's, or to have a voice that is all like the Ruffo's.

Margery Maxwell was suffering from the same vocal complaint as Schipsa. When ignored the customary American pitch entirely in Frederick's "I would not give a Judgment as to the first act. Miss Maxwell as Lakme's slave—you are missing the rod of chastisement is laid down—does some notable work which is of quality of tone, musicianship, phrasing was the best she has done this season in the charming duet with her mistress "Nath on dome where Jasmine with the roses are blooming."

Albert Spalding did some of the best violin playing that this department has heard in many a music-filled month yesterday at the fourth Kinship Musical Morning. Space denies detailed eulogy, but suffice it to say that somewhere, somehow, Mr. Spalding has captured that inexpressible, famous inspiration "something" that is going to sweep him into the equivocal position of a public idol if he isn't careful. Remember what happened to Kreisler, who was unknown for so many years to the insatiable musical multitude?

Arthur Hackett, bringing the rare vocal gifts of a lovely tone of power, richness, and depth, a flawless enunciation, fine phrasing, good intonation, excellent musicianship, and style, shared the program with Mr. Spalding.

Blanche Goode, directress of music at Kimball college, gave a piano recital at Kimball hall yesterday. A young woman of charm and personality, she possesses an effective manner of playing which includes a vigorous tone, original ideas, and adequate technique. She was heard in Bach's Siciliano, Schubert's Country Dance, Mendelssohn's Prelude and Fugue in E minor, and Chopin's Etude, No. 2.

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER. Winnie Needs a Gas Mask.

Clouds of heavy smoke emanated from Mr. Bibbs' private office. Winnie fledged nervously, until Pat, emerging from the sanctum, belted, "Phe! Didja ever smell the like before? The boss is smokin' one of them Christmas ropes his wife gave him, and we are the goats! We're the Patsies!"

Winnie coughed and sneezed and choked. She tried courageously to type her letters, but the air was stifling. Presently the boss emerged from his office, puffing furiously at a huge black cigar, and leaving behind him a trail of heavy gray smoke, strode through the office on a business mission.

Winnie had just begun to breathe a little easier as she wrestled with her work, when Mr. Bibbs and his sulphurous cigar returned, leaving in his wake a smoke screen that would have baffled the entire British navy. He sniffed and sputtered, and, hesitating, turned around and scowled at Winnie.

"Miss Winkle," he grunted, "how can you work in this room?" "What's the trouble, Mr. Bibbs?" queried Winnie in her sweetest tone. "Trouble!" grumbled the boss. "You ought to have some fresh air in here!" "We will as soon as you take that stogie out of here," retorted Winnie, and the boss sneaked quietly back to his office.

A typical Chicago industry — an Illinois Corporation — offers 25,000 shares of its common participating and voting stock at $10.00 per share. No preferred stock, mortgage or bonds of any kind ahead of this issue. Normal Federal Income Tax paid at source. Free from Illinois State Tax.

Make something and sell it! That's the 20th Century idea of making money.

Since 1914 Universal has been making things — such as high grade tools, stampings, and hardware.

During the war it made special 37 millimeter gun mounts for sharpshooters' guns.

Today it has perfected and patented a marvelous phonograph motor. Not the ordinary alarm clock kind. But an improved model — smooth, silent, dustproof — that requires less winding.

Over 50,000 are under construction now for early 1921 delivery to one manufacturer. One of the biggest phonograph makers in the world is negotiating for Universal's entire output. Experts declare it superior to all others.

Cattle prices broke another $5.00c, bringing the market to a level $10.00c lower than Thursday last week. Receipts at 15,000 were nearly 6,000 larger than a week ago, making a supply too large for demand, and trade was dull at prevailing prices. The best steers topped at $12.00 and no choice yearlings were nearly 6,000 advanced $10.00 on light supply.

Hog trade was uneven, averaging only slightly lower for the day, although early transactions were much at $10.00c. Choice light hogs sold up to $10.65 and the market average was $10.05. Packers held out of the morning session, but closing trade was stronger.

Lamb trade was quiet and sheep sold strong to 25c higher. Choice lambs late reached $13.00. Top ewes brought $5.25 and yearling wethers sold up to $10.75.

Seven western markets received 40,000 cattle, 104,000 hogs, and 35,000 sheep, against 27,000 cattle, 100,000 hogs, and 20,000 sheep previous Tuesday, and 46,000 cattle, 145,000 hogs, and 54,000 sheep a year ago.

Receipts for today are estimated at 5,000 cattle, 25,000 hogs, and 12,000 sheep against 4,400 cattle, 17,500 hogs, and 8,345 sheep at Chicago corresponding Wednesday a year ago.

RAILROAD NOTES

The railroad coal bill for the first nine months of this year was $238,928,042, or $7,024,624 more than during the corresponding period last year, according to a statement issued by the interstate commerce commission. The cost of coal was greater in the New England district than in any other place in the country, being $7.75 per net ton, against $5.67 last year. The central western district had the lowest cost, only $3.38 per net ton. In 1919 they paid $2.97. Total coal consumption by the railroads during the nine months was $1,752,251 tons, while during the same period in 1919 they used 71,619,009.

President Wilson was advised by the interstate commerce commission yesterday to sign the bill recently passed by congress amending the transportation act to defer until Jan. 1, 1922, operation of section 10 of the Clayton anti-trust act, which prohibits railroads purchasing equipment and other supplies from concerns in which the roads are interested except with approval of the interstate commerce commission.

A formal order of the dominion railway commissioners, based on a recent judgment refusing to suspend September rate increases, has reaffirmed refusal of the board to grant suspension of the new rates on application of the provinces of the Manitoba and Saskatchewan. A 5 per cent decrease from the new freight and a 10 per cent decrease from the new passenger rates, as provided for in the September judgment for Jan. 1, 1921, will now go into effect on New Year's day without further action by the board.

The St. Paul handled 22,558 cars during the first twenty-one days of December, as compared with 23,947 the corresponding period a year ago. The Burlington reported that for the same period the total number of cars loaded on the system and received from connections was 101,007, compared with 107,402 for the same period in 1919. This is a decrease of 6,395, or 5.7 per cent. The Santa Fe during the last week handled 24,333 cars, as compared with 24,543 the same week last year.

WHERE THERE'S MANUFACTURING THERE'S MONEY

Universal Stamping & Mfg. Co.

A typical Chicago industry — an Illinois Corporation — offers 25,000 shares of its common participating and voting stock at $10.00 per share. No preferred stock, mortgage or bonds of any kind ahead of this issue. Normal Federal Income Tax paid at source. Free from Illinois State Tax.

Make something and sell it! That's the 20th Century idea of making money.

Since 1914 Universal has been making things — such as high grade tools, stampings, and hardware.

During the war it made special 37 millimeter gun mounts for sharpshooters' guns.

Today it has perfected and patented a marvelous phonograph motor. Not the ordinary alarm clock kind. But an improved model — smooth, silent, dustproof — that requires less winding.

Over 50,000 are under construction now for early 1921 delivery to one manufacturer. One of the biggest phonograph makers in the world is negotiating for Universal's entire output. Experts declare it superior to all others.

Standard Oil Debentures.

B. B. Hancock, Wis.—The $30,000,000 of debentures recently issued by the Standard Oil company of New York are its only funded debt. For some years past this company has carried about 50 per cent annually on its $75,000,000 of stock. In view of the very wide margin of safety for both interest and principal the notes rate as a sound investment. The Standard Oil company of California has just under $100,000,000 of stock outstanding, on which it earned 3 1/2 per cent last year and about 20 per cent on the average for five years before. It is issuing $25,000,000 of ten year debentures, which are its only funded debt. It is evident that interest on them is being earned many times over. The debentures are a well secured and attractive investment.

Brief Answers.

H. B. and H. S.—A typographical error made our item last Thursday say that Hart, Schaffner & Marx earned 3 per cent on common stock in 1919. What we wrote was 13 per cent. That figure was taken from Moody's Analysis.

I. F. Helena, Ark.—The Cities Service company earns its preferred dividend about four times over, giving that stock a fairly strong position. Pure Oil preferred has a wider margin of safety.

G. Z.—The preferred and common stock of the Crane company were listed on the Chicago exchange last May.

Paul C. Peterson has resigned as cashier of the Merchants Loan and Trust company and will retire on Jan. 1, after thirty-seven years of service with the bank. Assistant cashier in 1881, he became manager of the foreign exchange department in 1890, entering as cashier in 1905, and cashier in 1913.

COAL PRIORITY ORDERS BENEFIT B. & O. EARNINGS

The November earnings statement of the Baltimore & Ohio, as submitted to the Interstate Commerce commission, is regarded as showing how much some coal carrying railroads have been benefited by the commission's priority orders through 1920. Operating revenues of the Baltimore & Ohio last month increased $7,853,890 over those for November, 1919, and of this $7,853,890 was derived from the additional freight carried.

Against this increase, however, there was an increase of $4,414,644 in railway operating expenses. The major portion was traceable to a $4,088,652 advance in transportation expenses (wages), and the company spent $2,252,688 more in maintenance of way and structures and equipment than it did in November, 1919. Net revenue from railway operation was $3,439,246, as compared with $1,293,599.

Lehigh Valley's gross in November increased from $5,708,323 in the same month of the preceding year to $7,552,129, while net operating income increased to $761,331 from $288,116. Texas and Pacific November gross revenue amounted to $5,381,422, as compared with $2,287,872 the preceding November, and net operating income was $208,407, compared with $211,992 the year before.

PATTON SHINES IN BEAVER COAT. James A. Patton appeared on the Board of Trade yesterday with a big beaver coat. He is proud of it, as it is made out of skins of beaver caught on his son's ranch in Montana. Jack, the son, is improving his 2,500 acres with big an duckhouse houses in addition to enlarged facilities for handling a large number of cattle. The ranch is between Boulder and Butte, Mont.

The Chicago Tribune Makes Its Own Newsprint

TURNING LOGS INTO TRIBUNE NEWSPRINT.
One of the battery of wood-grinding machines in The Tribune's mill. The logs are floated right to the machine. The workman is shown putting them into a box-like opening in one of the three turrets. Pneumatic pistons force them under tremendous pressure against great grindstones. Hot, white slush of ground wood is seen flowing out just behind the workman. Below at the right, a giant stone grinder. The stone at the left looked just the same before its three months' hard usage converting logs into pulp for Tribune readers.

INTO The Tribune's great mill at Thorold, Ontario, go hundreds of thousands of electric horse power from Niagara Falls, millions of gallons of water from the Welland Canal, train loads of coal, steamers full of logs, cars of sulphur and limestone and clay—and out of the mill streams paper at the rate of 600 to 1,000 feet per minute from each of five machines.

The sheets delivered from the various machines range from 150 to 187 inches wide.

RESERVE WOOD PILE at The Tribune mill, now containing almost a million dollars' worth of spruce logs. The crane at the right has just lifted a hammock full of logs from the deck of a steamer in the Welland Canal and is throwing them into the log pond. The logs are floated across the pond and taken to the top of the pile by chain conveyors, here shown in operation.

This means that the product is the equivalent of a strip of paper one foot wide and five miles long every sixty seconds.

To produce the newsprint used in an average issue of The Sunday Tribune our paper mill consumes:

54 acres of timber
21 tons of sulphur
28 tons of limestone
665 tons of coal
63,000 electric H. P.
18,200,000 gallons of water

This great mill represents an investment of millions of dollars and employs 650 men. Its output is consumed by The Chicago Tribune, and The Tribune's tabloid pictorial innovation—The Daily News of New York.

Every operation in the conversion of spruce logs into paper is carried out within the mill in order that the highest standards of quality may be constantly maintained.

FIRE PROTECTION.—The Tribune's log pile caught fire a few years ago and burned for five days, occasioning tremendous loss. Fire plugs like this are now placed at intervals all along the pile. Any one of them can shoot a stream over this big hill of logs.

Two kinds of wood pulp are used in making Tribune newsprint—chemical pulp and mechanical pulp. Chemical or sulphite pulp is obtained by chipping the logs and cooking the chips under heavy steam pressure in bisulphite of soda. This acid solution dissolves everything in the wood but the fine cellulose fibers. It leaves these long and unbroken. Even the bisulphite liquor is manufactured in The Tribune's mill by burning raw sulphur and sending the resulting gases up high towers, down which water trickles over masses of limestone.

Mechanical or ground wood pulp is obtained by forcing the side of a log against a huge grindstone whirling at 250 revolutions per minute. This quickly reduces the log to a hot, mushy "slush." This "slush" must be screened to remove the splinters and washed free of resinous material.

Ordinary newsprint contains 20% of chemical pulp, and 80% mechanical pulp. The quality of Chicago Tribune newsprint is kept above the average by using 30% chemical to 70% mechanical pulp. Not only is the chemical pulp more expensive to manufacture, but a cord of wood makes only 1,300 pounds of chemical, as compared with 2,300 pounds of mechanical pulp. Thirty per cent is the greatest proportion of chemical pulp that can be used to advantage. A greater amount would produce a paper too fine in texture to absorb the ink from cylinder presses grinding out 72,000 papers an hour.

The chemical and mechanical pulp in proper proportions are mixed with clay, which acts as filling; alum for sizing, aniline dye for bleaching, and then sent to the paper machines. The Tribune's new newsprint machine is said to be the fastest in the country. The pulp in a thin milky sheet, 150 inches wide, flows out on its screen and is converted into paper at the rate of 1,000 feet per minute. This machine and the four others are driven by three shifts of men, twenty-four hours a day, to keep The Tribune supplied with paper.

WHERE PULP BECOMES PAPER.—Wood pulp greatly diluted with water flows on a wire screen at the right of this picture. When it reaches the left the water has been drained out, the fibers matted; it has become a sheet of wet paper—ready to pass through the series of rolls, blankets and dryers which finish the process.

SHIPPING FINISHED ROLLS.—Wrapped in special paper made at The Tribune mill, the rolls are loaded into freight cars which run inside the mill within a few yards of the paper machine pictured at the top of this page. The traffic department of The Tribune handles more than 10,000 cars a year, bringing raw materials to the mill and taking away paper.

EIGHT years ago, when paper was cheap and the business of making it considered highly unprofitable, The Tribune bought a piece of farm land on the Welland Canal and began the development of the mill described above, one of the largest in Canada. New buildings and machinery have been added during the recent period of extraordinary high prices. The object of The Tribune throughout has been to create a complete institution, self-reliant, independent, equipped to give maximum service to readers and to advertisers, ready to face this big new year knowing that 1921 will reward fighters.
